An Arch Never Sleeps

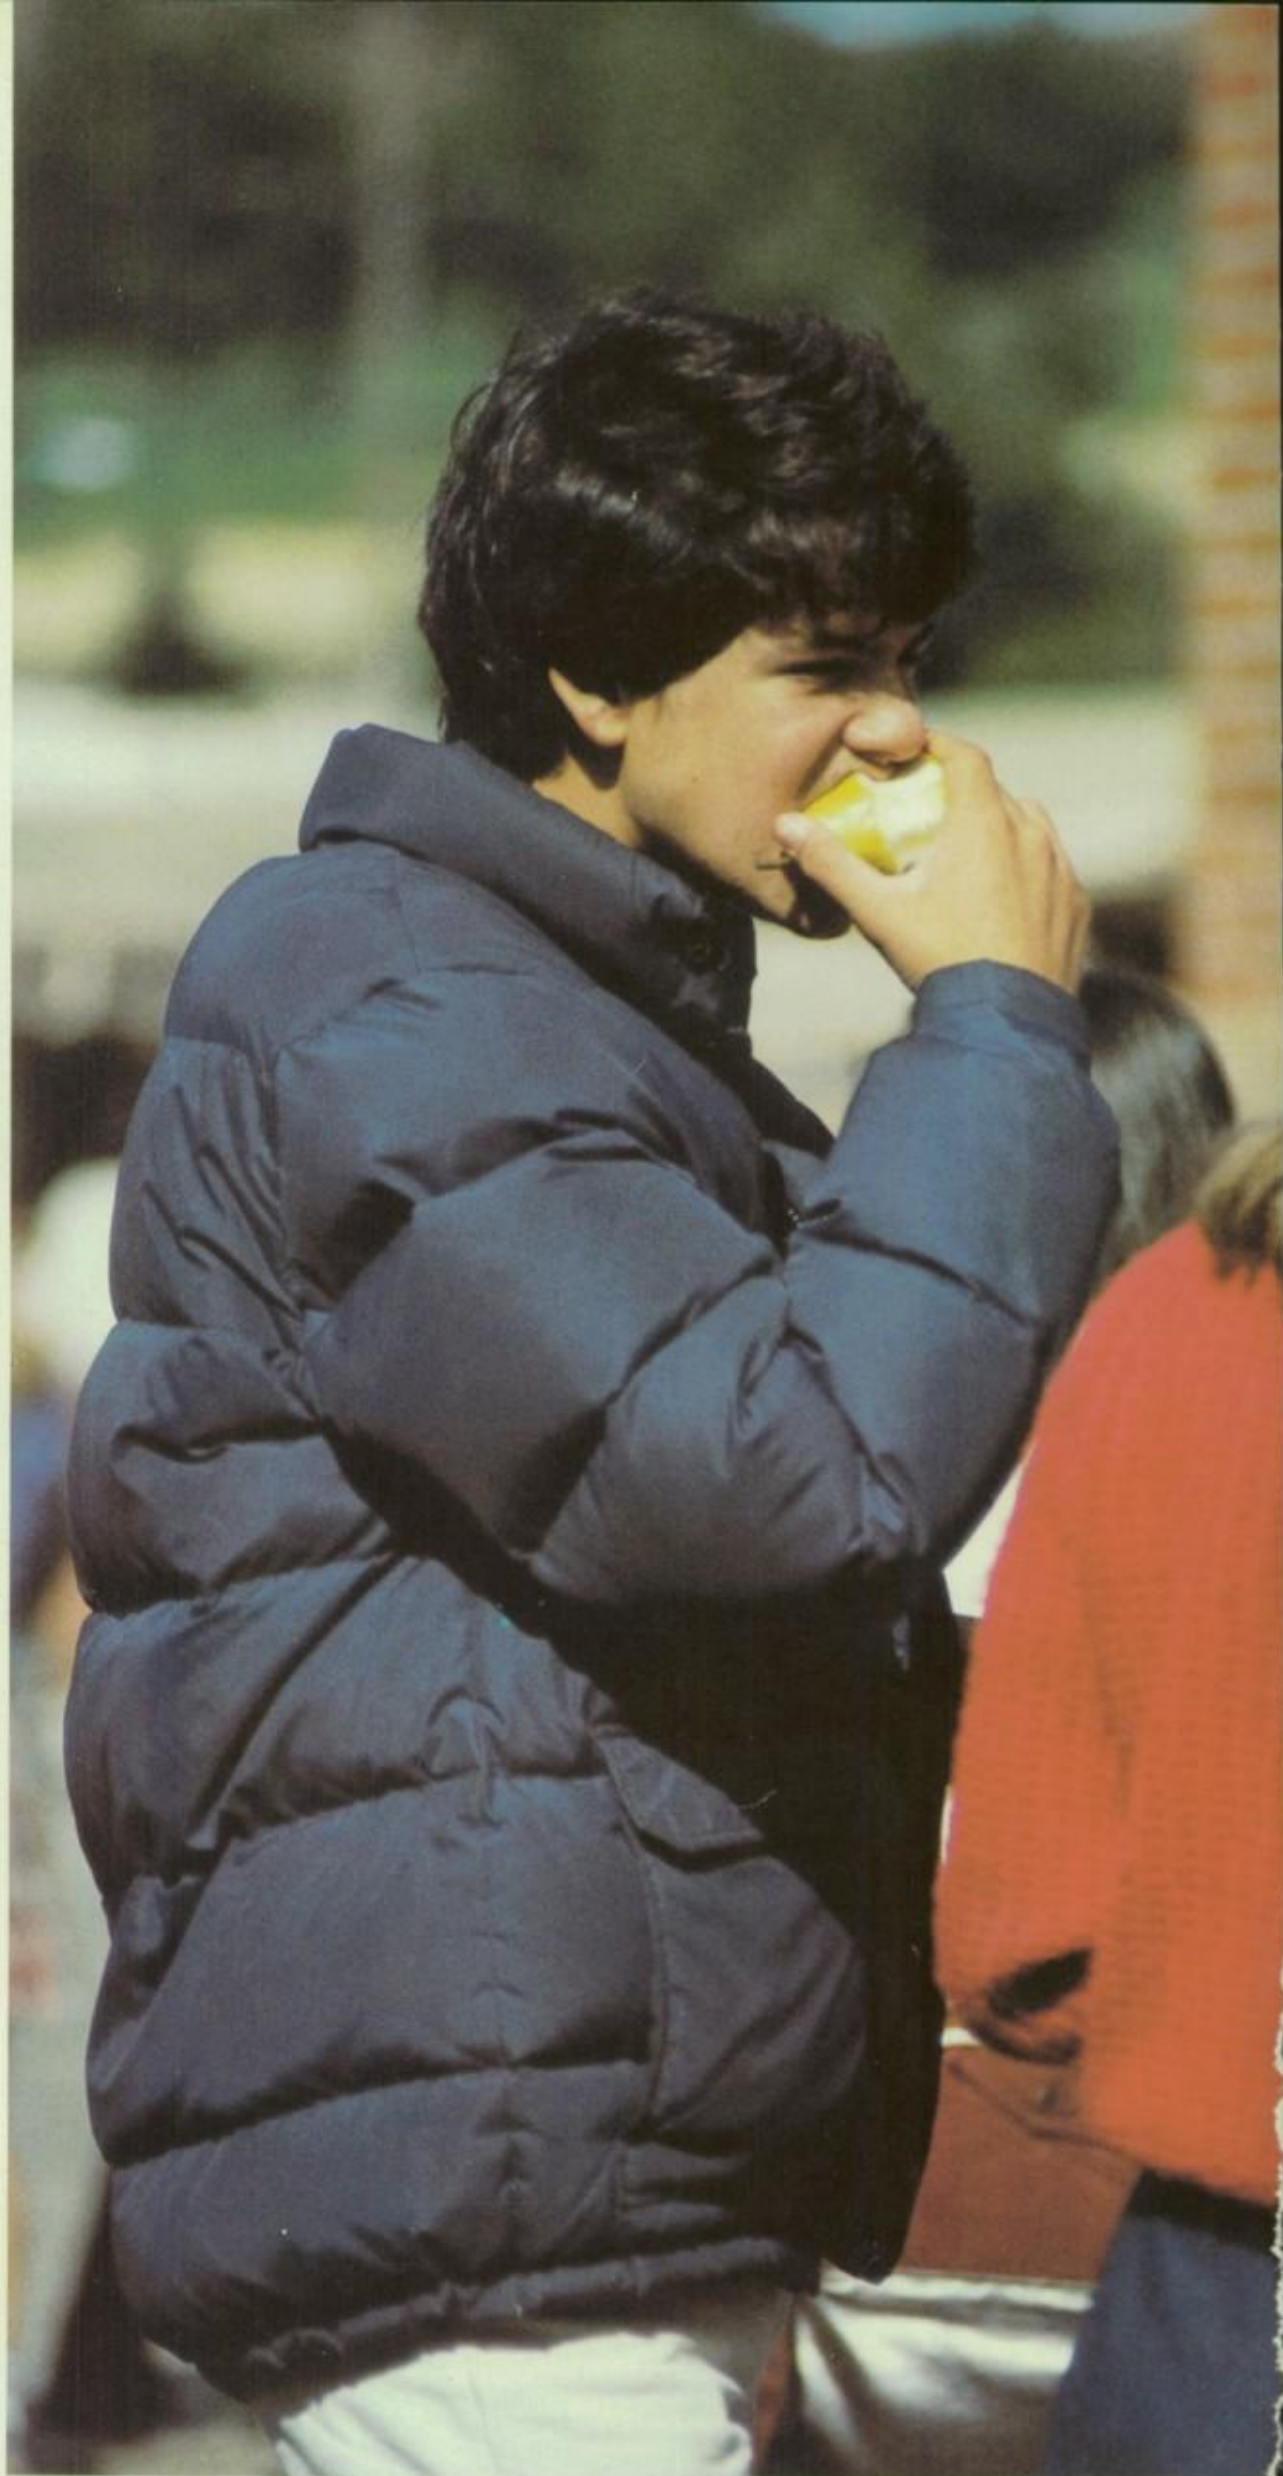

Our theme, "An Arch Never Sleeps," is an old Arabic saying referring to the design of the Arch in which each stone supports and is supported by every other stone. If one stone gives way the whole Arch falls. This is why Arches are built in such a way that the stones fit together perfectly to give it strength and unity.

The Arch symbolizes life at Alemany. Every class, team, club, and the school in general, is made up of individuals working together to give the group strength and unity, and if one person "sleeps" the whole group suffers.

The Arch as a bridge can also be compared to Alemany, for Alemany is a sturdy bridge for us to cross over from youth to adulthood, from high school to college, from present to future.

Life At Alemany . . .

A Building Experience

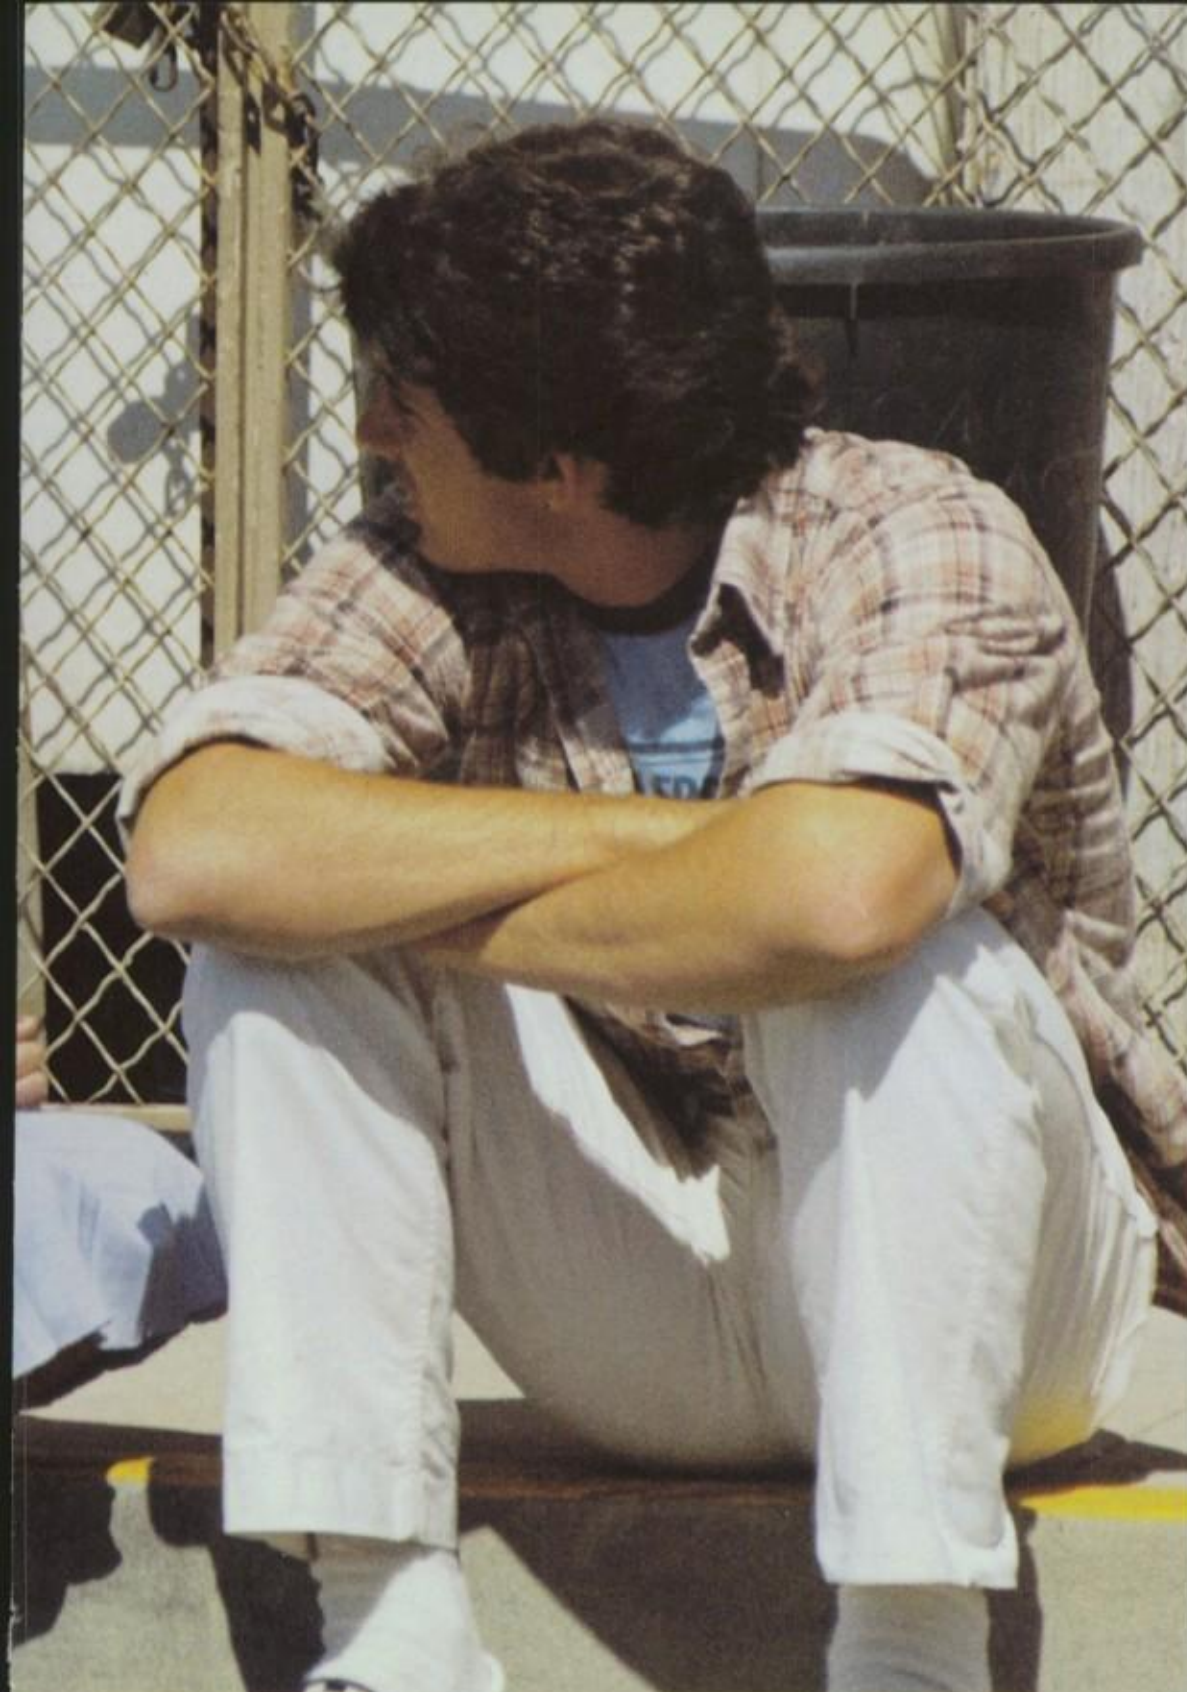

With all the parts working together 1982-83 turned out to be a great year. The cornerstone of the year's excitement was the football team's unprecedented success. Other events which contributed to the year's fun were the "Roses and Royalty" homecoming dance, a couple of soc-hops, enlightening retreats, the Mardi Gras, and the prom.

But the real thing that made this year a great year was each of us, the students and faculty, doing our part to contribute to and take part in the fun and excitement.

Of course we got more than just fun for our efforts, we grew together academically and spiritually. We learned about ourselves and each other as we built friendships and created an arch of esprit de corps.

Coming Home . . .

Spirit and enthusiasm really rang out at the annual Homecoming rally, held on October 22. The gym was standing room only as pep commissioner, Wendy Whiteford began "one of the greatest rallies ever held at Alemany" according to Father Blaire. The cheerleaders really used the spirit as they performed the funeral of "Barry Apathy." With the help of preacher, Debbie Gribbons, the yell leading, pall bearers, and the cheerleading mourners, apathy for Alemany was buried once and for all! All this enthusiasm from the crowd, made spirit stick competition really tight but after a final routine by alumni song and cheerleaders, it was announced that seniors Ken Ceasar and Wendy Rector had tied for most spirited Individual and once again, for the third year in a row, the class of '83 was the most spirited class.

With Success . . .

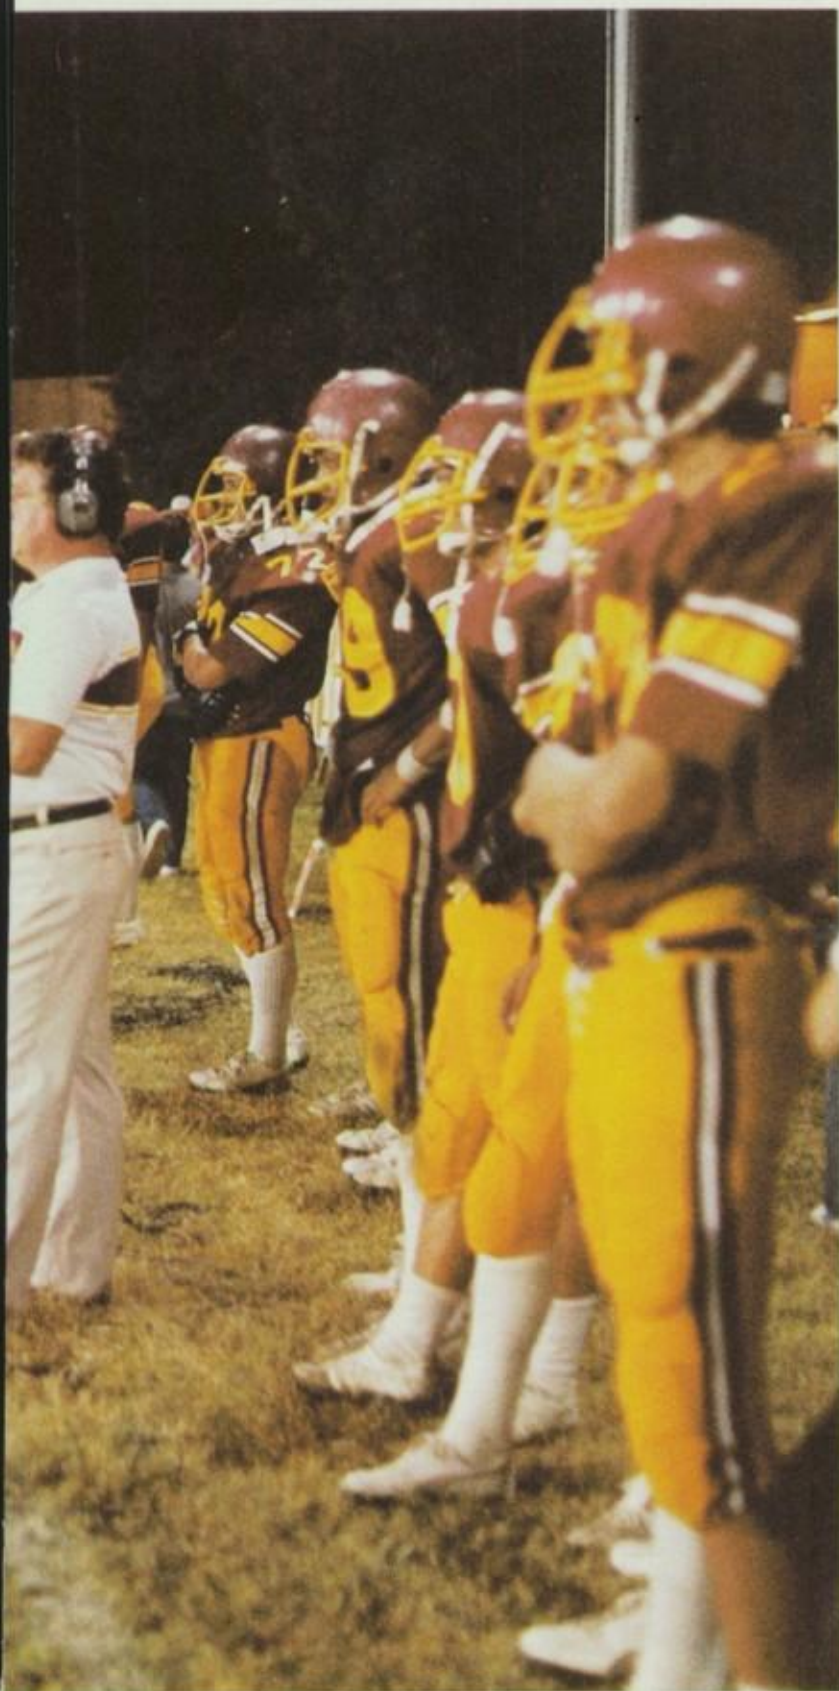

Great weather, a super halftime, and excellent football (surprise!) were the highlight of the Roses and Royalty Homecoming game held on Oct. 23. Indian fans (and there were many) went wild with enthusiasm as the "miracle on Rinaldi Street" brought previously undefeated, #1 ranked Loyola to its knees with an unexpected 14-14 tie with only seconds left in the game.

The excellent halftime show, designed by activities commissioner, Bridgette Luna, only served to heighten the excitement and enthusiasm of the night. Despite major problems with the wind, brilliantly decorated class floats circled the track with the class of '83 winning the float contest for the third year in a row. But what the crowds really wanted was the homecoming court and they cheered nonstop as the court, consisting of Wendy Whiteford, Jodi Wagner, Lizzy Crimes, Marianne Carlson, and Debbie Gribbons, drove up to the stands in beautiful Chrysler Le Baron. A special treat for Queen Wendy Whiteford was the handsome parachuter, all decked out in a black tux, who flew down to congratulate her with roses and a kiss. The Alma Mater rang out at the end of the game - a perfect conclusion to a night few Alemanians will forget.

As it came to pass, long ago on October 23, 1982 subjects came from all kingdoms far and wide to attend ye old Roses and Royalty Homecoming Ball. And a night full of royalty it was! The transformation of the gym into a majestic castle and the sophomore class rose sale, set the stage for an old-fashioned, fairy tale ball. Though the dance started slow with an hour wait for photographs, the excellent band, "Rollercoaster" had the floors packed in no time. The royal climax was the spotlight dance featuring Queen Wendy Whiteford, her court and their dates dancing to the Elton John classic "Your Song". At the stroke of midnight, the wonderful ball came to an end as subjects gathered up their dates for the romantic, moonlit ride home. A perfect ending to a very "royal" evening.

Let's Boo-gie

"A fantastic, loving experience" describes the Exceptional Individual's Halloween Dance held on October 28 in Alemany's gym. Rockin' to the live music of the alumni band, Creator, everyone had a blast. Costume judging was difficult with the various costumes ranging from Strawberry Shortcake to E.T.'s cousin to the more traditional Dracula and Frankenstein.

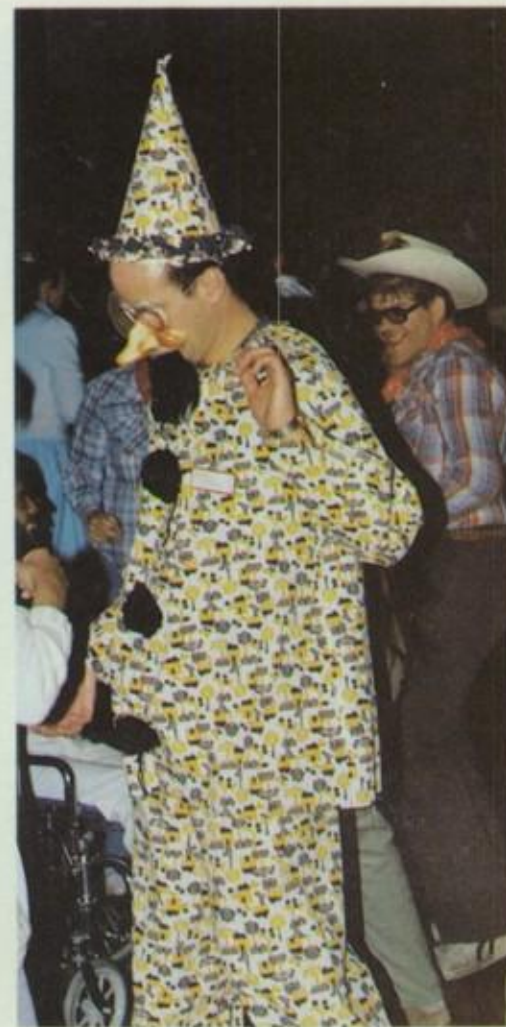

Under the organization of Coach Nancy Graziano, service commissioner Lori Muir, and the Routolo sisters, smiling faces and lasting friendships were what remained of an "exceptionally" great evening.

The Miracle Worker

Anne Sullivan says goodbye to fellow classmates.

Split lips, stitches, and many visits to the hospital described the dedication of the cast of the very successful Miracle Worker production. Keeping in the tradition of past Alemany performances, The Miracle Worker, the story of blind, deaf, and mute Helen Keller and teacher Anne Sullivan, was no disappointment, with inspiring performances given by the entire cast. According to cast member William Powlowski, "dramatically this was Alemany's most difficult performance and alot of hard work and pain went into it." Again, the drama department proved that with a little hard work and alot of pain, success is only around the corner.

"Ole!"

Backwards

"Mistletoe Magic" became an appropriate theme for the annual Backwards Dance as the Christmas spirit and "magic" showed through everything. With the help of the senior class and moderator Mrs. Bowen, the gym was transformed into a Christmasy Winterwonderland, with lighted Christmas trees and mistletoe adding to the decor. The rock band "Keeper" also added a little spirit and enthusiasm as they had couples off the bleachers and on to the dance floor in no time. The highlight of the evening came shortly after 9 o'clock as the Penny Prince Court, consisting of Freshman Luis Marquez, Sophomore Mike Shaffel, Junior Todd Zinni and Senior Matt Connell, was announced, with Matt Connell chosen as the reigning king of the 1982 Christmas Ball.

Academics Builds For The Future

What's always there, waiting for you, after football games come and go, deadline nights close, or after sock hop lights dim? That's right! Homework! Academics! Our studies keep our feet on the ground, and provide the keystones to our personal archways of life. And who are the architects? Every one from our first P.E. coach to the dean we dread to meet. These people help to shape our lives in the tradition that has earned Alemany many high honors.

What's the best way to tell that Megan Doyle is a freshman? She's working as hard as it looks.

"Note-taking contributes to 50% of the stress on teenagers," worries Lynda Ackerman.

Caring Teachers Make It Extra Special

Much credit for the pleasant learning atmosphere is due to the faculty, who not only teach, but care enough to learn from each one of us. However, this is typical of the strong Christian atmosphere that is always present throughout the campus. The religion classes, as well as solids and electives, give us a perspective on our lives that allows us to grow spiritually. For all these reasons, more than one student has commented that "people seem to go to Alemany, not because they're forced to, but because they really want to be there."

"Who says Christian Marriage isn't tough!" thinks a sour looking Mrs. Melch.

Freshman, Tim Gilboy concentrates on a difficult English skills test.

Dedication . . . The Administration

Though there will always be groans and moans about detentions and dress code, deep down inside we at Alemany realize how lost we would be without the dedication and caring of the Administrative staff. We owe all our thanks and appreciation to Fr. Blaire, the deans, Mr. Gebauer and all the wonderful people in the front office who are always ready and willing to give of their time.

Whether it's diagramming sentences or reading Thoreau's Walden, English is without a doubt, the keystone to the arch of education. If you can't read or write, you can't do anything in life. Science: Something For Everyone

"Well, 'stooge-ents', today we'll discuss the anatomical value my moustache has to my face." With that Mr. Smith begins another one of his fascinating lectures. It may sound a bit exaggerated but its this sense of humor and air of surprise that makes the Science dept. one of the most popular on campus. Each of the faculty members are genuinely interested in giving us a taste of the scientific life, always finding new ways to keep the class lively, whether it be dissecting cats or one of Mr. Franklin's infamous performance labs. Overall, whether you're into biology or chemistry, the Science dept. has something for everyone!

A Special Touch; The Arts

Whether it be typing, photography, drama, art or schola the Arts add that special touch which breaks up the routine in our lives. The teachers encourage you to find talents you thought you never had and which might come in handy in your future profession. While the practical arts prepare you for the business world, the fine arts prepare you to see that world in many exciting ways. And finally interpreting our world of the past, present, and future is our always successful Performing Arts department. They all contribute in helping us "see" more clearly around us, finding value in things we never dreamed of.

Leading the Alemany rooting section at sporting events was an exceptional group of cheerleaders. They could not be beaten, as their theme stated. Neither could they be silenced. Their "rah-rahs" echoed through the gym and over the football field spurring Alemany teams to victory. Win or lose, the Freshmen, JV, and Varsity squads kept Alemany spirits high and made enthusiasm the name of the game.

Claudia Ruiz the 1982-83 Religious Commissioner did a splendid job with the development of the Reach Out Club. The club members held convalescent parties at our neighboring hospital, Holy Cross, practically every month.

Individually, the members went to the hospital to visit their adopted grandparents. They spent time, shared memories and became a warm sight for everyone at the hospital.

CSF And NHS: The Thinkers

Who are the thinkers? The members of CSF/NHS. For some of the members, this was their first year of membership, for others, it was their fourth.

They contributed their talents and their time by giving tours during Open House and tutoring other students in different subjects. CSF/NHS helped to unite students from all corners of the campus.

Some came from the various sports, some from band and drama and some from Alemany's grand society. All of them are proud to have earned the honor of belonging to this prestigious group.

Student Council Builds School Unity

What qualities does a student body need to help run Alemany more efficiently? Take one look at the 82-83 Student Council, and those qualities can be determined. Mrs. Johnston, advisor, stated that the Student Council this year was one of the "nicest" groups she has ever worked with. This group of "enthusiastic, generous, and organized" leaders possessed something that Mrs. Johnston felt was very important: the ability to support each other in different activities.

Student Council has many roles at Alemany: to practice skills of leadership and responsibility, to develop interpersonal relationships, and to provide service to the school. One of the major effects this year's Student Council had on Alemany, through its different endeavors, was the ability to bring the classes together to form an enduring unity.

Recuerdos . . .

"Deadline was a week ago?" Sounds like a strange question but an often asked one. The Recuerdos Staff of 28 people moderated by Mrs. Wheeler ran into some great problems. Pictures weren't taken, copy wasn't written and deadlines were not met. Even with all of these problems, the staff got things done. A theme was chosen and ten months went into producing the book. Ads were sold, proofs were corrected and late night McDonalds runs were made. Out of this confusion came a lot of hard work, results, lots of friendships, and many good times.

Major changes have made the Pow-Wow better than ever. The use of computers and new layout styles have made the paper second to none. The staff has kept the students informed with all of Alemany's latest events in each monthly issue. Yet, none of this would of been possible without the hard working staff under the guidance of editor Raissa Huravsky and advisor Maureen Rubert. Club de Español Comes of Age

Overcoming years of being looked down upon, the Spanish Club fought its way to being one of the most popular clubs on campus. Throughout the history of Alemany, the club and its members have been laughed at, but not any more! The "New Spanish Club", guided by the Cuban wisdom of Mrs. Gloria Smith and senior, Gerardo Garcia, started out the year with over fifty members, two fund raisers, and a spectacular fiesta for Guadalupe Day. With all of its enthusiastic members, the Spanish Club should continue a long and successful life at Alemany.

Lettergirls

Getting Straight A's

All of Alemany's lettergirls have earned an "A" in effort—a big gold and red letter "A" signifying their participation in a Varsity sport, which is no small feat. Their red jackets are as noticeable a presence on campus as their excellence is in the C.I.F. On the court, on the field, or on the track, these girls exemplify their athletic skills by earning many awards, scholarships and first place team standings. Guided by Mrs. Sharon Coia and Nancy Graziano, girls Athletic Director, the lettergirls continue to make Alemany proud of their girls.

Lettergirl's moderator Mrs. Coia also coaches volleyball, basketball and softball.

The Hikers, Bikers, Walkers And Talkers: New Stones Fit Into The Arch

Nature lovers, exercise lovers and Mr. Rooney lovers started many new clubs on campus this year. With the help of Gayne Pinto, all were chartered. The Walking Club, with moderator Mr. O'Conner, made many weekend hiking trips in the mountains.

Mr. Carlson chartered the Biking Club, which had rides to various places. Mr. Rooney helped charter his very own Fan club in which the members were multitudinous.

On the more serious side of life is the Speech and Debate Club. The club started well for a newly reinstated one. Gifted members, such as Pola Galan and Erin Mc Keown, who were coached by Mrs. Lynch, collected many awards.

These new clubs added a much needed variety to the monotony of the schoolbooks and papers of school.

Guys And Dolls

What do love, gambling and con men have in common? They set the scene for one of Alemany's most successful musicals to date- Guys and Dolls. Successful is right! After playing for two consecutive weekends to a sellout crowd, they were forced to open the performance one extra night which again was another sellout. But then why shouldn't it be successful when you have the excellent directing of Miss Kate McKimmey, the beautiful musical scoring of Miss Sue Hamre, and of course the superb talents of a cast of new and veteran actors including Mark Hernandez (Sky), Art Guevara (Nathan), Heather Viesselman (Adelaide) and Aileen Scott as the overly pious "save a soul" missionary. Alemany musicals have always been considered excellent and it was good to know that Guys and Dolls was no exception.

3. Nathan and the boys frantically search for a place to hold the floating crap game.

1. The grand finale: the cast of Guys and Dolls.
2. Robert Felmer and Richard Rammage discuss the latest game.
3. Nathan (Art Guevara) once again tries to win the heart of Miss Adelaide (Heather Viesselman).

Hitting The Highs And Lows

"It's all in the cheeks," claims Mike
Lyon.

Lino Murillo puts his hot air to constructive use.

"All together now," says Miss Hamre.

It's The Wind; It's Thunder; No, It's The . . .

Alemany Band

This was a growing year for that band of musicians who finally put music back into Alemany life. Under the direction of Miss Hamre and student director Mark Hernandez, the band, composed mainly of freshmen and sophomores, boosted Alemany spirit at games and rallies, and performed in all the school concerts, not to mention the different grade school tours. According to Miss Hamre, band members worked hard to "expand their horizons," placing "emphasis on variety."

Ravi Ramashandran, Dave Curtis, John Grabowski, and Carlos Costa warm up for a drum session.

Schola's great combination contributes to the successful Christmas concert.

Matt Connell and the rest of the gang of boys sing and dance.

Schola And Band

Diane Leach shares her beautiful voice with all who attended the Nite of Entertainment.

Dave Bernards and Char Walsh pep the night up when they "Rock Around The Clock."

The girls sing and dance the "Peppermint Twist."

Shine In Fall Concerts

Where can you find talented musicians, dancers, and actors all in one place? At Alemany's Nite of Entertainment and the Schola Christmas Concert. These traditional presentations were once again successful and with a coalition of band and schola, the night proved to be fun as well as entertaining. This success was due not only to the talented students, however, but also to their teacher, Susan Hamre.

Schola-la-la-la-la-la

(Sung to tune of Deck the Halls)

What do you get when you sing with thirty people?

Schola-la-la-la-la-la-la.

Schola, under the direction of Miss Hamre, was involved in many activities where their beautiful talents were on display. They impressed us at the class masses, dazzled us on the Nite of Entertainment, and honored us at the Loyola-Marymount Competition.

Singing their hearts out at the performance with Canyon High School are Richard Ramage, Mike Perrotti and John Libby.

Music director Miss Hamre speaks on behalf of Schola Cantorum.

"Eat your heart out, Snoopy," says Mike Perrotti.

A wonderful story told by Marianne Kennedy, entices Heather Viessleman.

Sing For Spring

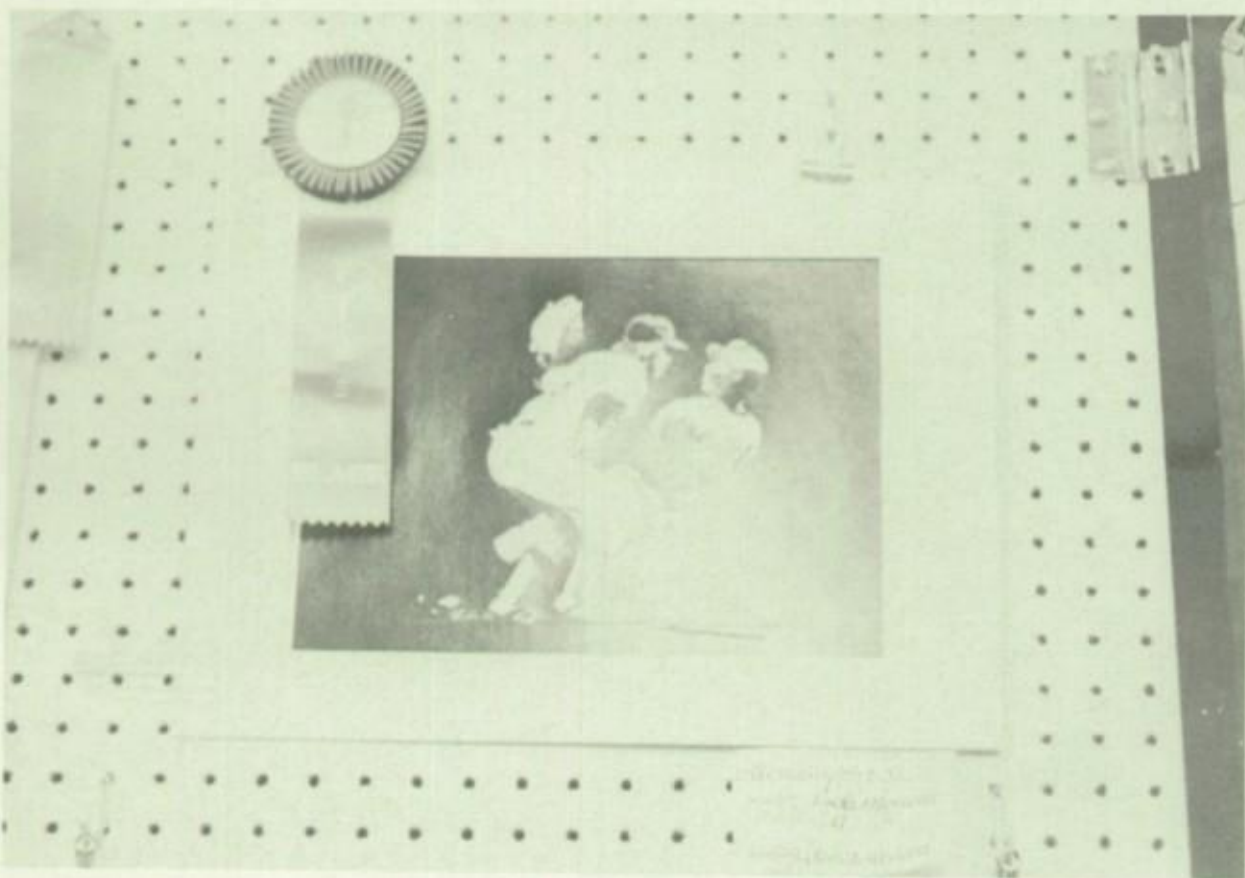

Alemany can be called many things—but Broadway? Well on May 20, in our own gym transformed into a cabaret setting, Broadway came to life for the first annual spring-pop concert—"A Tribute to Broadway," presented by Miss Sue Hamre and the music department. The Alemany audience was treated to a variety of interesting, as well as unusual acts, ranging from the all new stage jazz band, an Elvis impersonator, and a sextet of lil' old ladies, performed by schools and girls chorus all singing for spring and Broadway.

Lynn Gottenboss works magic with oils.

Vicki Morielli portrays her love for the Dodgers.

The grand prize winner.

Chris Stokes' surrealistic photograph.
"Here's looking at you."

Picture Perfect

Picassos, Michelangelos and Rembrandts in the making; this year's art show was just that. The show, which included pottery, paintings, and photographs all done by the students, was highlighted by grand prize winner Jacquelyn Motil's extraordinary sculptured ceramic piece. With all the talented artists here at Alemany, the art show couldn't help but turn out "picture perfect."

The Base Of An Arch . . .

... is a major factor in determining its durability and strength. At the annual Freshmen Orientation, Alemany's 344 Frosh students proved that their spirit and enthusiasm are major factors in determining their own strength as a class. Welcomed by faculty and Student Council, the new students participated in various activities that helped them to get acquainted with the campus and fellow students. With all this to build on, plus dedicated class officers, Alemany's Class of '86 had a great Freshman year and can look forward to the next three years with pride!

Sophomores: Unity To Build On

The Sophomores had a very distinct identity this year. They really spread their spirit and made their voices heard at rallies and various sporting events, especially at the games of their own Sophomore football team. Much of this spirit and enthusiasm is the result of the efforts of President Mike Maddigan, Vice-Pres. Debbie Unger, and Sec-Treas. Stacy Unger who worked to make this year a bold statement for sophomore spirit and unity. According to Mike, "Our goal was to get the class to really unite—to run their own show and to successfully show that we're Sophomores and proud of it." With all that unity to build on, the Class of '85 can look forward to two more awesome school years.

Throughout the years the Junior classes have always been very special, however the class of '84 had a special magic that set them apart from any other Junior class.

Under the leadership of President Michelle Beuerlein, Vice-Pres. Bobbette Wood, Sec-Treas. Christy Torres and second year moderator Mr. Rooney, every goal and activity set by the class was a success, especially the food, flower and sweatshirt sales not to mention the extremely successful Mardi Gras. The Class of '84 has much to look forward to.

Seniors

For something to be successful, it needs the help and support of everyone involved. That explains why we, the Class of '83, have been nothing short of a success. Through all the years that we have been together, from the very beginning as "insignificant freshmen" to the long awaited "almighty senior" status, we have accumulated an impressive list of accomplishments. We were the first class to win the Homecoming float competition three years in a row. We established the tradition of the Junior class Mardi Gras. And don't forget, we were the trend setters of the class sweatshirts. But really, five years from now, or even next year for that matter, who's going to remember who had the first Mardi Gras or who wore the first class sweatshirt? Probably no-one. However, what they will remember about the Class of '83 is, perhaps, our greatest accomplishment. The unity, enthusiasm and spirit which was so characteristic of our class will be the "Class of '83 Mark" and will live on at Alemany long after the last Homecoming float.

Memories . . .

are the bridge from the past to the future and a very big part of our lives. This holds true for all of us here at Alemany — where memories have helped us to grow into capable adults. We hope these pages capture the spirit and enthusiasm, so characteristic of our class. Good Bye! God Bless!

Spectrum Of Memories

Senior Tribute, headed by Commissioner C.J. Kirchner, was a very colorful event. The Continental brunch was accented by rainbow decorations, entertainment by sophomores and juniors, and a sentimental slideshow.

With the help of many outstanding sophomores and junior, Lisa Routolo, the Seniors were given a fond farewell! We will miss them!

Seniors applaud the award winner.

A Time To Be Born, A Time To Graduate

Dear Gramma,

Today our Baccalaureate Mass was held at De LaSalle Church and the mass was really beautiful. The celebrants were Fr. Robert Milbauer and Mr. Sam Frias, decon. Immediately following the mass, awards were given out. Boy-were there alot.

When the awards were finished, all of the graduates and their families went over to the parish hall to a catered brunch. It was very good. But you know me with food-everything is good.

It was a really fun day but I'll never see most of these people again. But its time to grow up and move on, so—look out world, here comes the class of '83.

Love,

Your granddaughter.

Seniors bask in the attention they are receiving as they process in to begin the graduation ceremony.

Despite being the first to receive a diploma, Denise Ackerson gets it all right; shake with the right hand and take the diploma with the left hand.

Commencement

The previous day had threatened rain but Graduation Day turned out sunny and hot. Despite the heat hundreds of guests went out to College of the Canyons on June twelfth to join the Class of 1983 in celebrating its high school graduation. The ceremony included speeches by salutorian Mark Garcia and valedictorian Lynn Gottenbos, as well as Father Milbauer's dissertation on victory over one's self, which Monsignor Gutierrez, who was representing the Archdiocese, described as "second to none." Certainly the highlight of the day for each graduate and his or her guests was the reception of the diploma. (Actually the student only received the diploma case; diplomas were handed out following the ceremony). The ceremony was capped off by the class singing the Alma Mater together for one last time. Following this the students failed to process out, so they broke up and went to receive their well deserved congratulations from family and friends.

Dads And Daughters

The first of what will be an annual event at Alemany turned out to be a huge success. The Father-Daughter Dance, sponsored by the sophomore class, was held on March 17th in the De La Salle Parish Hall and it was hard to determine who was having a better time—the fathers or the daughters. The energetic dads and their dates danced all night to the versatile sounds of Catch 22 who played everything from the Stray Cats to Elvis Presley. Although there were limbo games and chain dances, by far the highlight of the night was the father-daughter dance contest won by Mr. Viesselman and his daughter Heather. By the time the night came to a close everyone was exhausted.

Everyone has a good time at the "Father Daughter Dance."

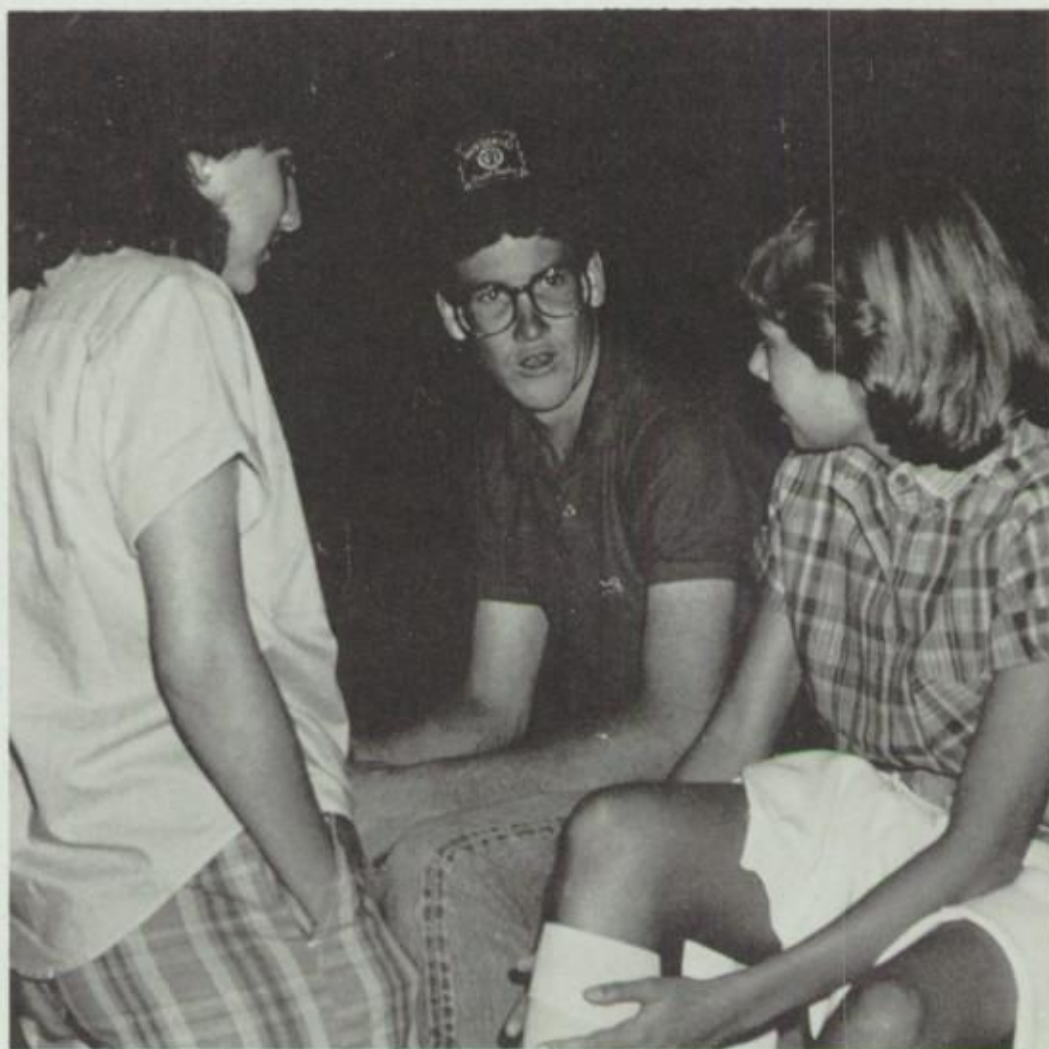

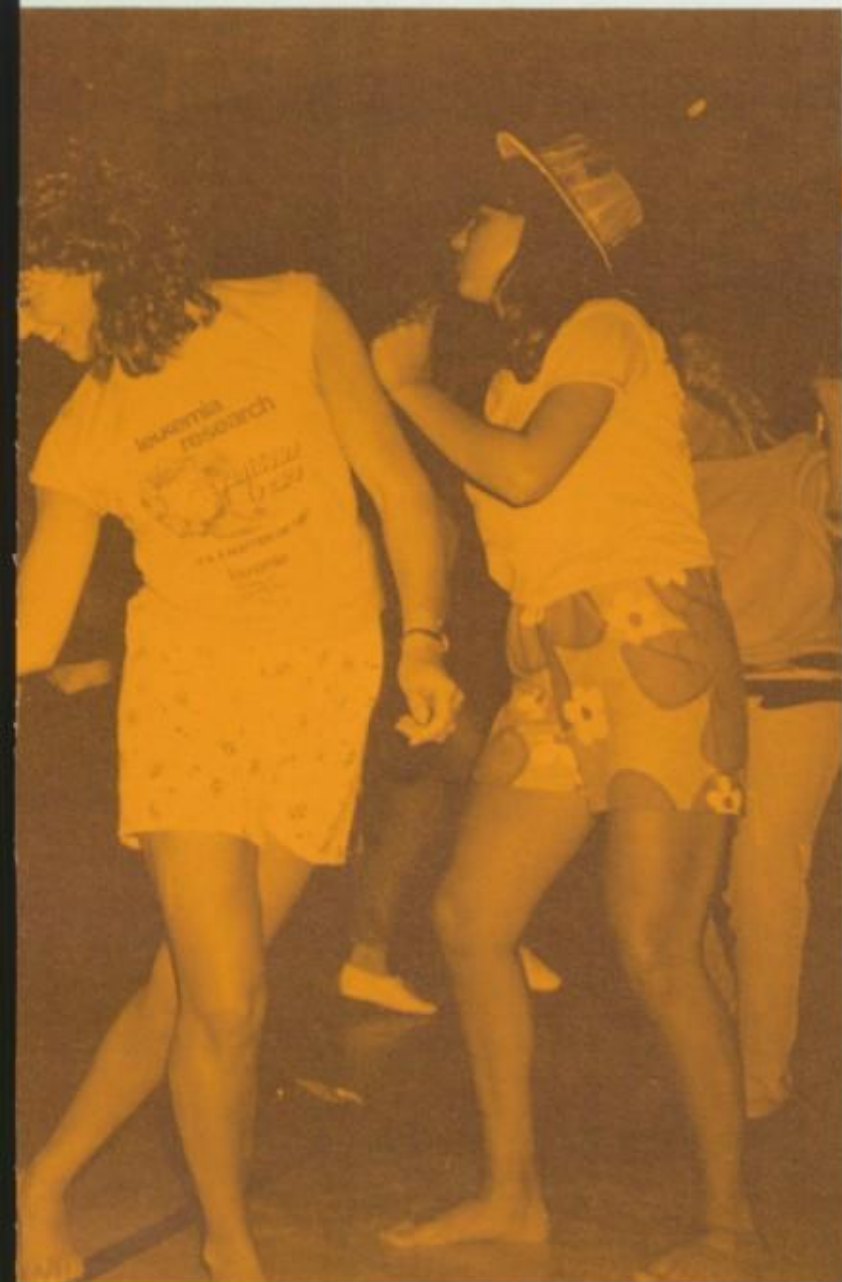

Carla Barclay and pals have a fun time at the dance.

Dance-A-Thon

Even though things got off to a pretty slow start, the Dance-A-Thon turned out to be quite successful with an astounding $3000 raised to help support the Luekemia Research Society. The turnout was minimal, but those who did come had a lot of fun. There was food, and prizes and the entertainment for the evening was some pre-recorded music and the appearance of two live bands, "Creator," and "B.F.C.D.," which rocked the evening away. The dance was organized by Lori Muir and the Service Commission and lasted from 3 o'clock in the afternoon till midnight. It was a truly exciting evening for a very deserving cause!

Up To Expectations

It was billed as one of the biggest events of the year. Lots of fun, excitement, food, and games were guaranteed for all. But, as May First dawned dark and dreary, most people decided to stay home and the fun stayed there with them. Yes, the family picnic was a flop—one of the few that student Council sponsored during the 82-83 school year.

The hoedown did show potential to be fun at its' beginning. There was square dancing and Chuck E. Cheese made a surprise appearance. However, as it became apparent that people weren't coming, things slowed down. Tom Hengle and his "Boothill Band" continued to play good country music, but were largely ignored by those present. There turned out to be only one game, and it was rather uninteresting. Even when it was announced that Fr. Blaire would be getting in the dunk tank there was no rush to be first in line. Folks did get a good laugh out of seeing him fall in though.

The sudden cloudburst that put a premature end to the picnic, made a very fitting conclusion to this "thrilling" day of fun and games.

"Howdy y'all," greets cowgirl Bridgette Luna.

Sue Lucia and Ann Freed discuss where to go next.

Mardi Gras

Bigger and better, the Mardi Gras, organized by Michelle Beuerlein, Bobbette Wood, Christy Torres, and the whole junior class, was a complete success, despite minor problems. The blackouts and the deflating moonbounce didn't in any way douse the enthusiasm and the liveliness of the students who attended. Colorful game booths, lots of food and the infamous dunking machine, not to mention the rock and roll sound of the band "Kicks" were the perfect touch to celebrate the beginning of Lent. It was truly a festive evening.

"Take my bags . . . please!" says Art Guevara.

Junior Erin McKeown announces the lucky winner.

Pitching dimes is Sue Lucia and her dates.

Steve Fontenette dreads a really good pitcher.

Happy but sleepy, Michelle Beuerlein and Jennie Modugno clown around.

Freaky Friday

February 4th became a "Freaky Friday" when the students, for a change of pace, took over the administrative positions and taught in different classes. Student Council members typed, counseled, and directed as other students replaced their teachers. Commissioner, Art Guevera summed it all by saying, "It was a unique experience and a lot of fun."

"May I have your attention, please, this is Mrs. McClung ... uh no ... really, Steve McDonell."

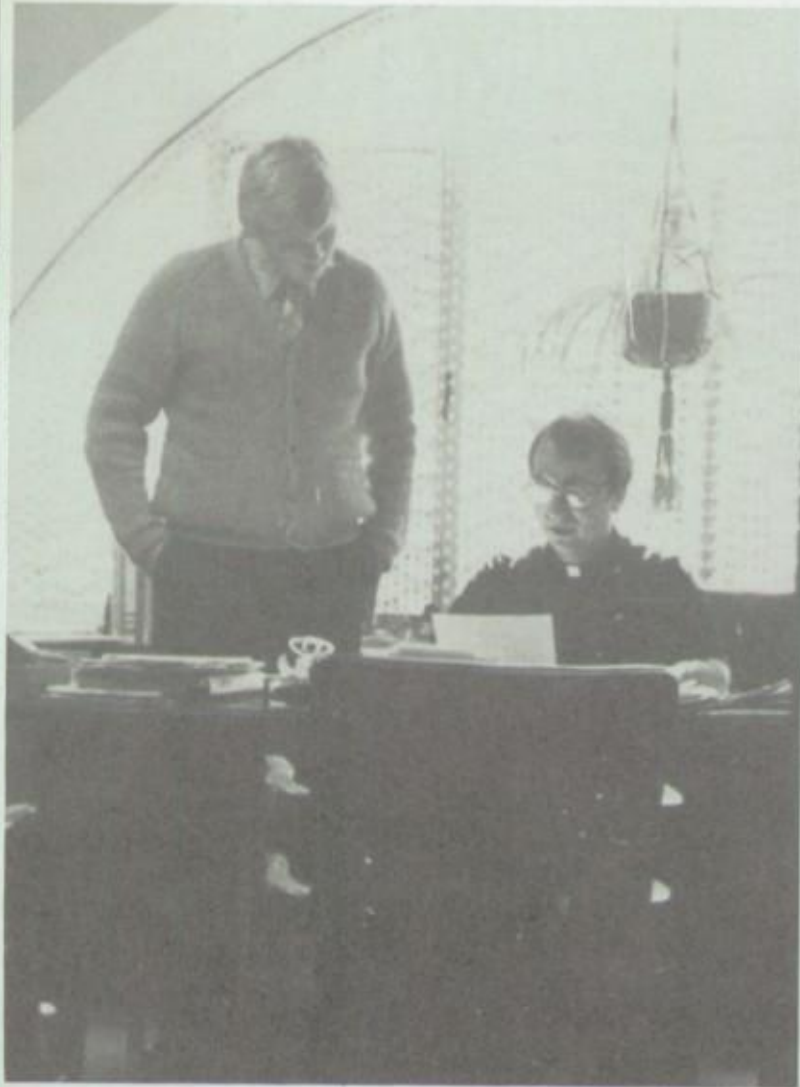

The most reverend Fr. Millbauer ... or is that Gayne Pinto.

For Shannon Doyle, a good cup of coffee makes a hard day at work a little easier.

"Lou Godman speaking, may I help you?"

President elect, Cindy Litzie, gives her acceptance speech as Vice President, CJ Kirchner, exuberantly stands by.

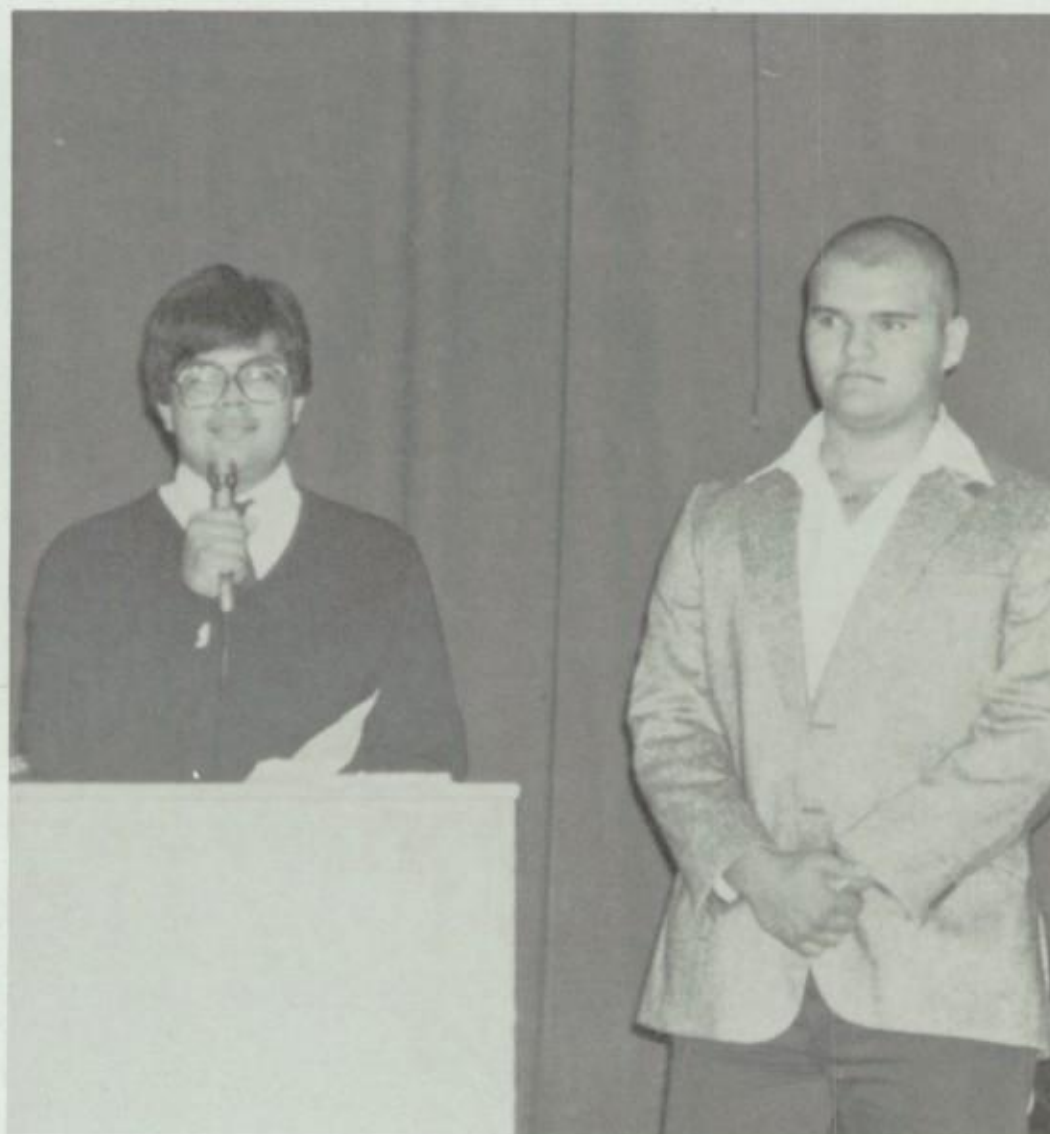

Litzie Captures Presidency

For the seniors, convention day was a time away from Alemany and for the underclass, it was a time away from the classroom. But to the six candidates who ran for office: Chris Huling, Rob Buccino, Michelle Beurlein, Maureen Schanbacher, Dan Dilzer, and Cindy Litzie, it was a very tense and exciting time to experience. On this very critical day, future political careers were on the line. Each candidate dealt with the same issues such as dress code, student priveleges, and maintainance of facillities. Along with these each candidate had his or her own strategy such as where to put that certain poster, planting certain questions in the audience and even swaying votes for certain favors. The whole scene was very hectic and exciting for the candidates, the students and also for moderators Mrs. Vivian Johnston and Mr. Tom McClanahan and most of all for the dedicated party leaders, Heather Viesselman, Pete Ferry, Julie Coscia and Kim Mahr who worked for months to set the whole thing up. The excitement lasted for one more week until it was finally announced that Cindy Litzie and CJ Kirchner would be the ASB President and Vice-President.

Michelle Beurlein and Chris Leo are all smiles with the returns from the Cheyenne Party.

A bodyguard??? No, its Chris Huling's running mate Ricky Rosales.

An active Ed Slinsky asks the candidate to clarify his prososal to change the dress code.

Springtime Memories

Breaking the tradition of the "big hotels", the senior class chose Castaway's restaurant as the site of the Junior-Senior prom. "Springtime Memories" was the theme and there will be many memories due to the spectacular view and excellent roast beef dinner. Further, Trisha Lopez, Shannon Doyle, Maureen Hoelck, Denise Ackerson, and Mary Englehart made up the most beautiful court in recent memory. Around 11:00 it was announced that Mary was the 1983 Prom Queen. Prom was truly a memorable occasion.

Of Prom 1983

Prom just wouldn't be prom without all the anticipation and preparation that begins almost three months before the actual event. Girls start panicking around March about how they are going to wear their hair and where the best place is to have a dress made. Luckily, thanks to Sr. Rita's dating service none of us had to worry about dates. As for the guy's, prom panic wasn't so much about what to wear as it was about finding money. There are tuxedos and limos to rent, not to mention $30 forbids and entertainment afterwards. But when prom did arrive all the plans made were well worth the effort because it turned out to be a night to remember.

Karen Dilzer and Sue Lucia share a private joke.

The Miracle On Rinaldi St.

"A miracle happened on Rinaldi street." This was one of the many phrases used by the media to describe Alemany's awesome football squad. The varsity team was not well rated at the start of their season, but soon caught the eye and enthusiasm of high school football fans everywhere, as they burned the field in their strive to be number one. With their number one rated defense, led by linebacker John Pleth and their offense led by quarterback Paul Oates, nothing could stop this fiery group. Coach Zeller stated, "Although we did not make it to the C.I.F. finals, we still feel that we should be the number one team. Few injuries helped to contribute to our spectacular season." Some players also stated that they felt a sense of unity; a family within the squad. Perhaps because they practiced everyday, from the beginning of summer till just before Christmas. Although the team did not make it to the C.I.F. championship game, they brought to Alemany not only the memories of the playoff games, but much needed school spirit and unity. Team picture on page 238.

Bill Birch shouts play numbers for a winning drive.

Soph Football "Never Give Up"

"...Never give up" was the Sophomore football team's motto, according to Coach Conlon. The young team tended to have a lack of consistency which accounted for the ups and downs of their season. "When they were good, they were very good and when they were bad," stated Coach Conlon, "They were very bad." Though they would like to have won a few more games, they acquired experience needed to help them in the future. Team picture page 245.

The Unusual

Usually, playing Freshman football is a learning experience, as the players acquire the knowledge of fundamental football and learn to work and function as a team. Well, this year's team really learned their lesson well, because every game they played was an inspirational triumph. Coaches Tom Collet and son Tom Collet Jr. along with coaches Marty Cooperstone and Mickey Siam were responsible for the enthusiastic and professional teamwork that led the freshmen to an undefeated season and a Del Rey League championship. With this success behind them, these young men may well prove to be excellent J.V. and Varsity football material in the years ahead. Team picture on page 240.

Serve-Set-Spike,

Despite the fact that they were very inexperienced, the Maidens managed to have an excellent season, placing second in the difficult San Fernando Valley League with an 11-8 record. With only one returning player, the girls began the season positive, strong and confident and they continued with this attitude through every game. Everyone contributed to the team's formation from Most Valuable Player Myrna Zenteno and Inspirational Michelle Modugno to Coach's Award winner Karen Frias and Most Improved Player Tara Ritter. But still the girls agreed that none of it would have been possible without Coach Maureen Rubert's determination and discipline which really helped to make the season a success.

J.V. Volleyball Gettin' It Together

"Hustle and determination" both on and off the court made up for their "inexperience and lack of size," commented Coach Pat Rogers. This "hustle and determination" enabled the team to place second in league playoffs. Behind the spiking of Nancy Garcia and the core performances of Stacey King and Kelly Mc Carthy, to name a few, the maidens fought their way to an 8-6 record. Team picture page 243.

Persistence Pays Off

A slow start but a great finish describes the Alemany Freshman Volleyball team. The turning point of the season came when Alemany hosted the Frosh clinic. Hard work and persistence paid off as they successfully placed first at the Simi Valley Freshman Invitational. The team won 12 out of their 17 games, with a strong finish, winning 7 out of their last 8. They did very well under the coaching of Mrs. Sharon Coia. "The team unity," said Coach Coia, "brought them together so that they could play well and have a lot of fun, as well as to prepare them for the J.V. and Varsity level." Team picture page 243.

Coach Coia gives the team an inspiring pep talk.

Pushing it around the mile mark, Ralph Solorzano leaves his rivals behind.

X-Country Falls In Rough Races

The echo of the start gun signaled the team's winning season opener against Loyola. Although they never lacked spirit and determination, those winning ways became all too scarce. The switch to the highly competitive Del Rey League proved too much for the Harriers whose record fell to 2-4. The drive never died though, as this group of young but talented runners pushed to victory over Bosco Tech and Loyola, and lost by deficits of only one and three points to Notre Dame and St. John Bosco. Senior Tim Panec, a four-year veteran, and winner at the Northridge Invitational, led the team. Some notables were Ralph Solorzano, junior, and Andy Anable, sophomore. Coach Randy Smith felt the "season was tough, but they never lost heart." Team picture page 241.

Harriers Build But . . .

Whether or not you've seen, or even heard of, the J.V. and Frosh-Soph X-Country teams in action is of no great importance now that the season is over. However, to those who ran, it was definitely a race worth winning. Though the Harriers finished their rough season with a disappointing 2-4 dual meet record, they found out that you don't necessarily have to win every meet to be a success. Even in the competitive Del Rey league, they were "a very determined group of athletes striving for success," as head coach Randy Smith commented.

With a look of strain and exertion, Miguel Bin pushes toward the finish line.

In the middle of the race, runners keep up the pace.

Determined is right! Though the switch from the now dissolved Mission League to the difficult Del Rey League somewhat affected their performance, they never let the competition bother them. With the help of some outstanding running by Frosh Mark Baldwin, Soph. Bob Broogie, and Junior Max Godinez, the team handed their greatest losses to rivals St. John Bosco and St. Francis with a difference of 2 and 3 points respectively. As Coach Jaime Mendoza assured, "If the runners keep with it, Alemany should have an impressive group next year." (Team picture pg. 41)

A Slow Start; But Fast Improvement

Despite the fact that they started out slow the Girls Varsity Cross Country team, under the expert coaching of Randy Smith, did extremely well.

The team was led by Laura Ornelaz, who was the only senior. Outstanding freshman, Sherry Harris, also contributed greatly to the girls' success. The other six members on the team did very well too.

The girls improved rapidly, decreasing their times with each run. They had "excellent team spirit", said Coach Smith, "supporting each other all season long." Team picture page 244.

The Team Of The 80's

Opening their season on Dec. 1 against Taft High School, gave the varsity basketball team their first hint of a difficult season, but they had faith in themselves and made the effort to really pull things together. According to coach Pat Rogers, "As a team we could have done a lot better except for the fact that we were in a tough league. I felt our defense needed improvement and our offense was strong, so I tried to stress the importance of defense in all our games."

Though it was difficult, the season was not without some major highlights such as the thirty footer, sunk by junior Michael Bennett in overtime against St. Francis — a shot which won Alemany the game. Also cable T.V. coverage of the game against Notre Dame was particularly exciting for the team. With ten returning players, including all-leaguer and M.V.P. Rodney Lafear, Alemany has high hopes for having the number one team of the 80's.

Vince Collet attempts to break through Bosco Tech's tight defense.

Mike Bennett blurs the camera as he makes a flying pass attempt.

Tom Pelino outjumps Bosco Tech opponents for an easy two points.

Coach Rogers and his team sit, intensely watching the game.

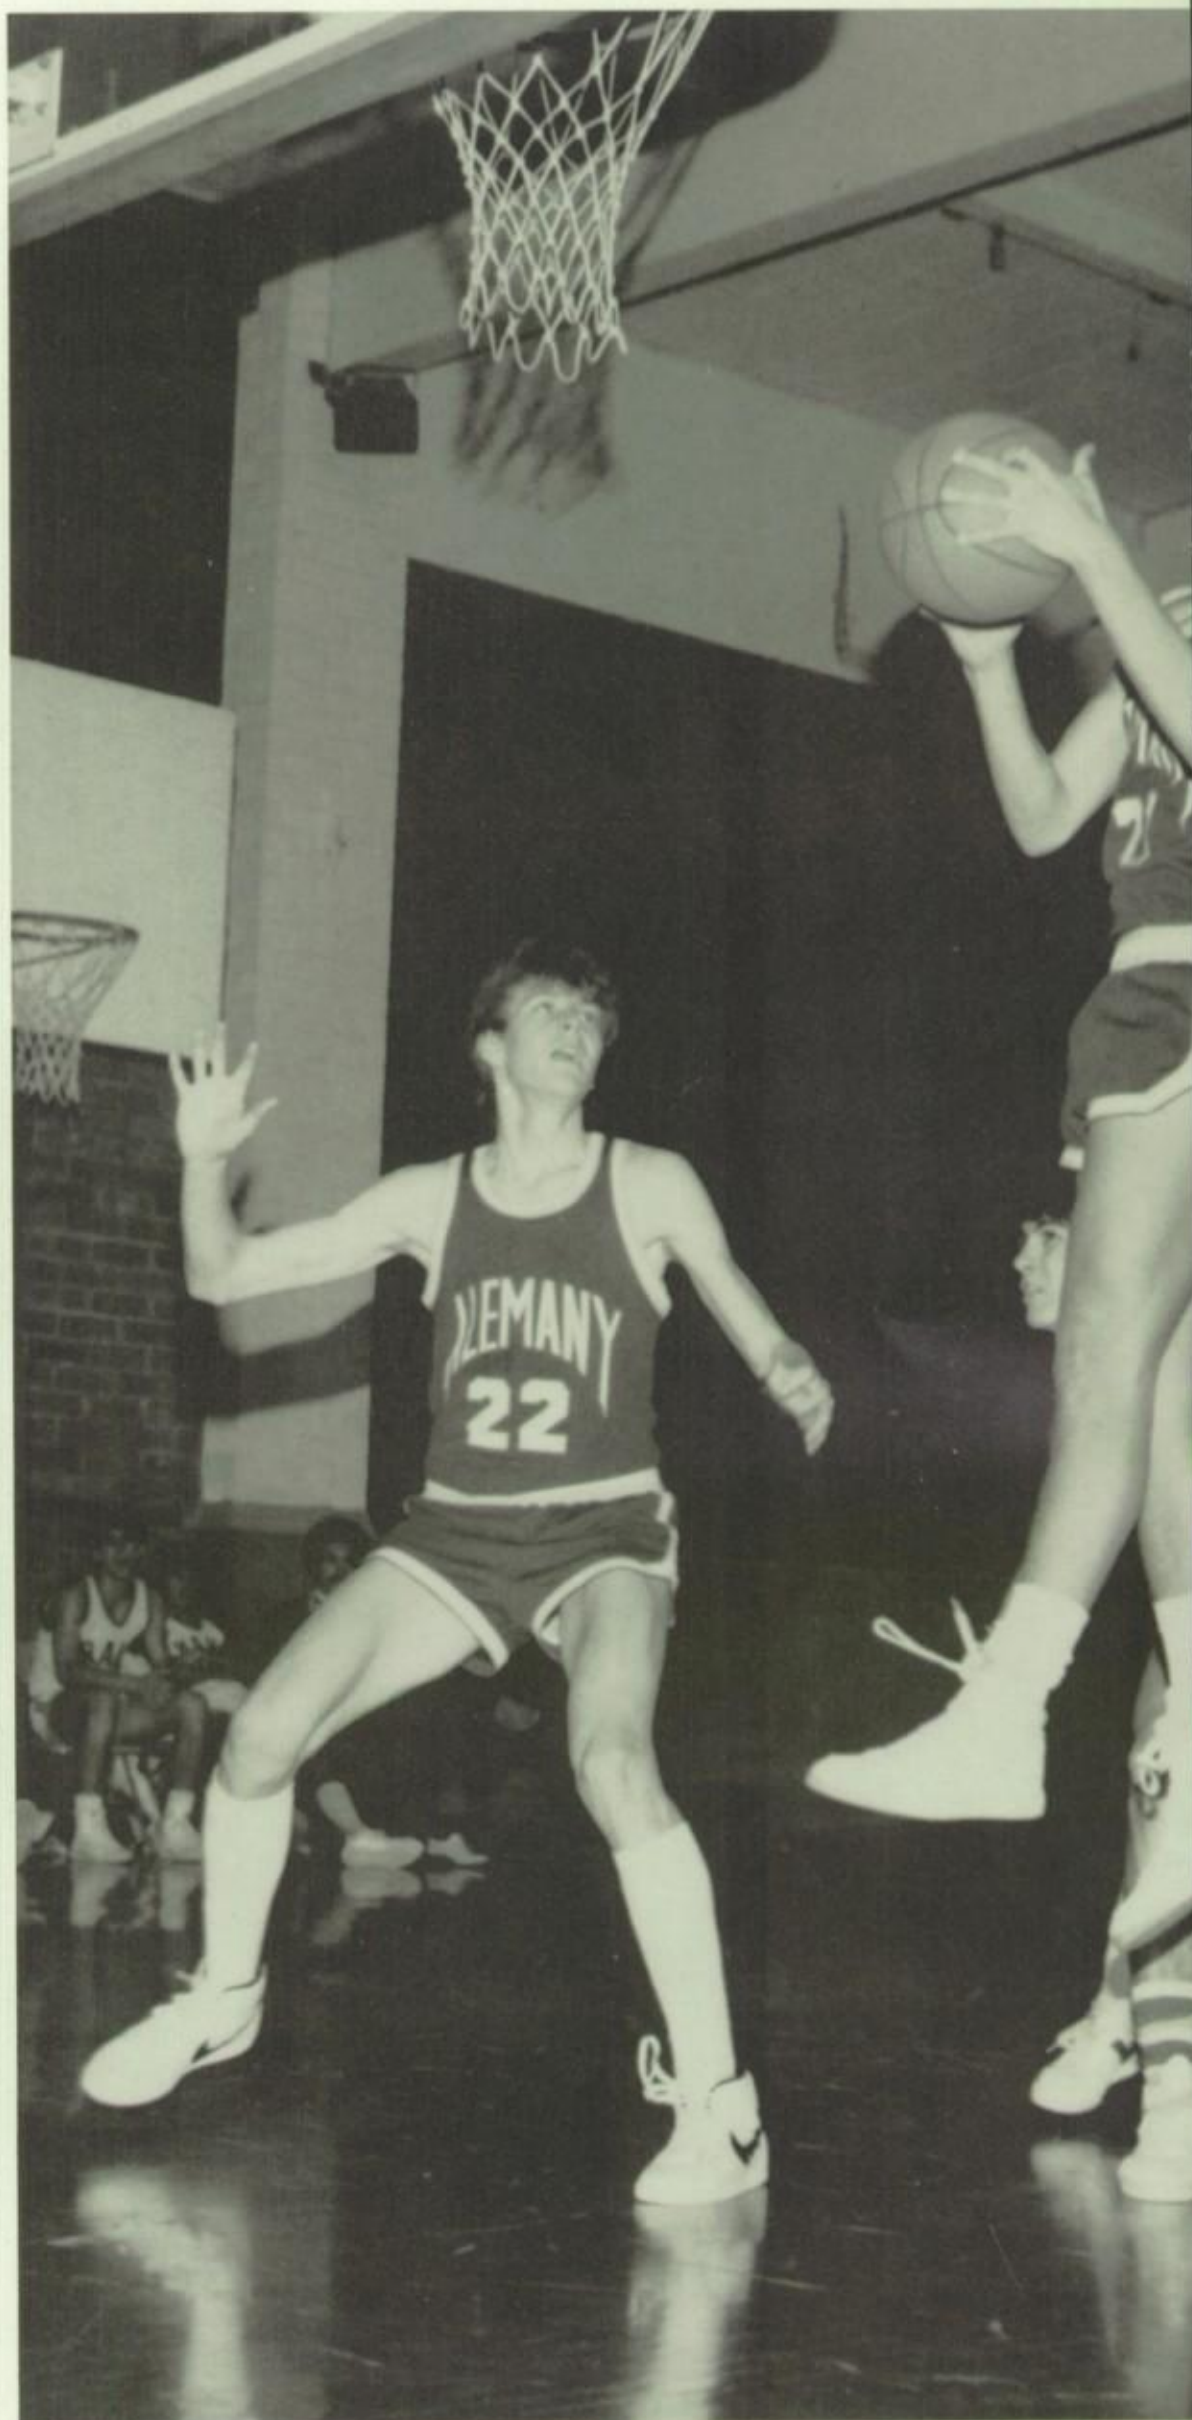

J.V. Basketball Stumbles In Del Rey League

The JV Basketball team, under coach Hinman, had a season they would just as soon forget, closing with a record of 3-18. However if the saying, "It's not whether you win or lose, but how you play the game," still holds true, the JV's came out winners. Though the guys "just couldn't get their rhythm together," their drive and enthusiasm during practice and their support for teammates on the court more than made up for the lost games. (Team pic. page 249.)

"This one is all mine, and no one is going to stop me," says Clyde Fontenette.

Soph. Basketball

The Alemany Sophomore Basketball team showed its sportsmanship and love of the game this season. Under the leadership of Coach Dave Carlson, they learned what determination and endurance is all about. "Though they started slow," Coach Carlson commented, "they really finished fast." Due to their great team effort and enthusiasm, Varsity and JV will have some awesome material to work with next year.

Freshman Basketball

Under the widely acclaimed coaching of John Carr a stellar Freshman Basketball team grew both as players and as individuals. They swept through an undefeated season to capture the Del Rey League championship. Stressing the fundamentals and discipline, the hearty band of athletes portend a great future for Alemany Basketball.

Still Winners

"Can they do it without Kirsten?" This was a major question the Daily News and many people were asking as the girls' varsity basketball season began. Well the answer was made plain and simple, with six of last year's players returning, the Maidens got off to an excellent start that produced a winning season record of 21-2 and a trip to the CIF playoffs. A combination of talent and determination proved to Alemany fans that the '82-'83 Maidens were not a "one woman" team!

Battling for the ball, Charlie Turner races around her opponent.

Lizzy Crimes puts the ball over the defenders for two points.

Kathy Smith, known for her base line shot, lead the Maidens to victory.

Determined, Tina Haug maneuvers for an open shot.

A tired Cindy Litzie defends Maiden territory.

Tipping the ball to teammate Darlene Kissman, Sue Milne gains the advantage over Bell-Jeff.

Talent Plus Skill Make A Winning Combination

Girl's J.V. Basketball began like any other season. The girls diligently met together for pre-season workouts, lifting weights, running, and working to improve their natural talents and skills. Under the direction of Coaches Graziano and Coia, practices paid off and the J.V. team started the season by gaining victories over their first five opponents. And, in spite of set backs such as physical injuries, the girls kept up their spirits and increased their enthusiasm. Coach Graziano put the season in a nutshell, "We played hard, we worked hard, we had fun together, and we won together." (Team picture on page 249).

Darlene Kissman: "Catch me if you can!"

Kathy Desautels shocks her opponent with another two points.

Cindy Carlson gets some last minute nourishment before the big game.

As the referee watches her every move, Linda Bonnette carefully throws in the ball.

Frosh Basketball

Gives It Their All

Freshmen are supposed to be inexperienced and learning when it comes to playing sports. Well, the 1983 Girl's Freshmen Basketball team provided a welcome change to this theory. With outstanding players such as Kris Inez, Stephanie Monroe, and Mischaulette Davis, the girls ended their season with a 12-9 record, placed fourth within the San Fernando League and were the Consolation Champions in the Simi Valley Tournament. The confidence, talent and ease with which these girls play will be quite an asset to the JV and Varsity levels. Team Picture page 250.

= Championship

CIF Champions. It sounds so beautiful. So beautiful that every team wants it to describe them, yet few teams earn this treasured title. The 1983 Varsity Soccer team joined this elite group becoming only the third team in Alemany history to achieve this distinction and the first to do it in the 3A division.

The road to the title was not an easy one however. The players began the season aiming for the CIF championship, but as they stumbled to a disappointing third in the Del Rey League it appeared that they had set their sights too high. In reality though this turned out to be beneficial to the team. Through having to play six games in seven days due to rainouts and losing the league title, the Indians toughened up and realized that they would have to fight for the CIF title.

In the playoffs Alemany entered every game an underdog. In the first round they defeated tenth ranked Milikan in an exciting quadruple overtime game. Next they topped third rated Bell Gardens, in a wet and muddy confrontation, 3-1. In the quarterfinals Alemany faced Dana Hills, who had not lost in two years, and was ranked number one. With Frank Ferry performing heroically in goal with a fractured finger Dana Hills was upset and shutout 2-0. The semi-finals left the Indians pitted against arch rival Bosco Tech, a team Alemany had lost to 2 out of 3 times during the year. Backup goalie John Franz came through as Alemany pulled out a 2-1 victory despite the injury of Chris Leo. In the championship game Alemany defeated San Gabriel 2-1, with Joey Kirk and George Miller making the goals. For his efforts each team member received a gold medal and a championship patch.

Yet the medal will tarnish and the patch will be lost with the letterman's jacket, what will remain though is the memories of the good times the team had. Whether it was at practice, a game, or a Friday night get together this team of exceptionally humorous characters knew how to have fun.

A special commendation should go to Jay Plyler, the team's coach, who at the young age of 21 led the team to the CIF championship.

Out Of Trying

"At least we had fun." Most members of this year's JV Soccer team seemed to feel this way. An extremely low turnout at tryouts left first year Coach Mendoza with a young and inexperienced team. They entered the tough Del Rey League facing some stiff competition. The team's only goalie injured his leg at the beginning of the year and all signs pointed towards a very bleak season. However, with the help of alumni Cruz Hernandez and Tom Baker, these determined players grew in skill and unity and left next year's team with some very promising prospects. (Team picture on page 246.)

Shooting Stars

Oh m' God! Like this year's Girl's Varsity Soccer team was like, sooo AWESOME! They were so radical that they finished second in their league and like, went into finals, ya know? These gals did not have mega fans like the other sports so most people didn't even know what tubular players the team had like Tara Ritter, last year's MVP, and Sarah Boswell who both had like, totally excellent passing and shots on goal. The defense, with fullbacks Christina Pinto, Karla Kulesza, and goalkeeper Heather Viesselman was pretty tough, keeping the beasties on the other team from scoring many goals. Mrs. Barbara Kirk like, coached them and thought that they did excellent- especially in playoffs. A team like this one shows others that soccer is like, a COOL sport! (Team picture, page 247).

The team cheers excitedly after a successful scoring drive against their arch rival, Hart High.

"Hey- where did the ball go?" wonders Kelly Costello as Karla Kulesza comes over to help.

Using their passing skills, Karla Kulesza and Tara Ritter outmanuever their opponents.

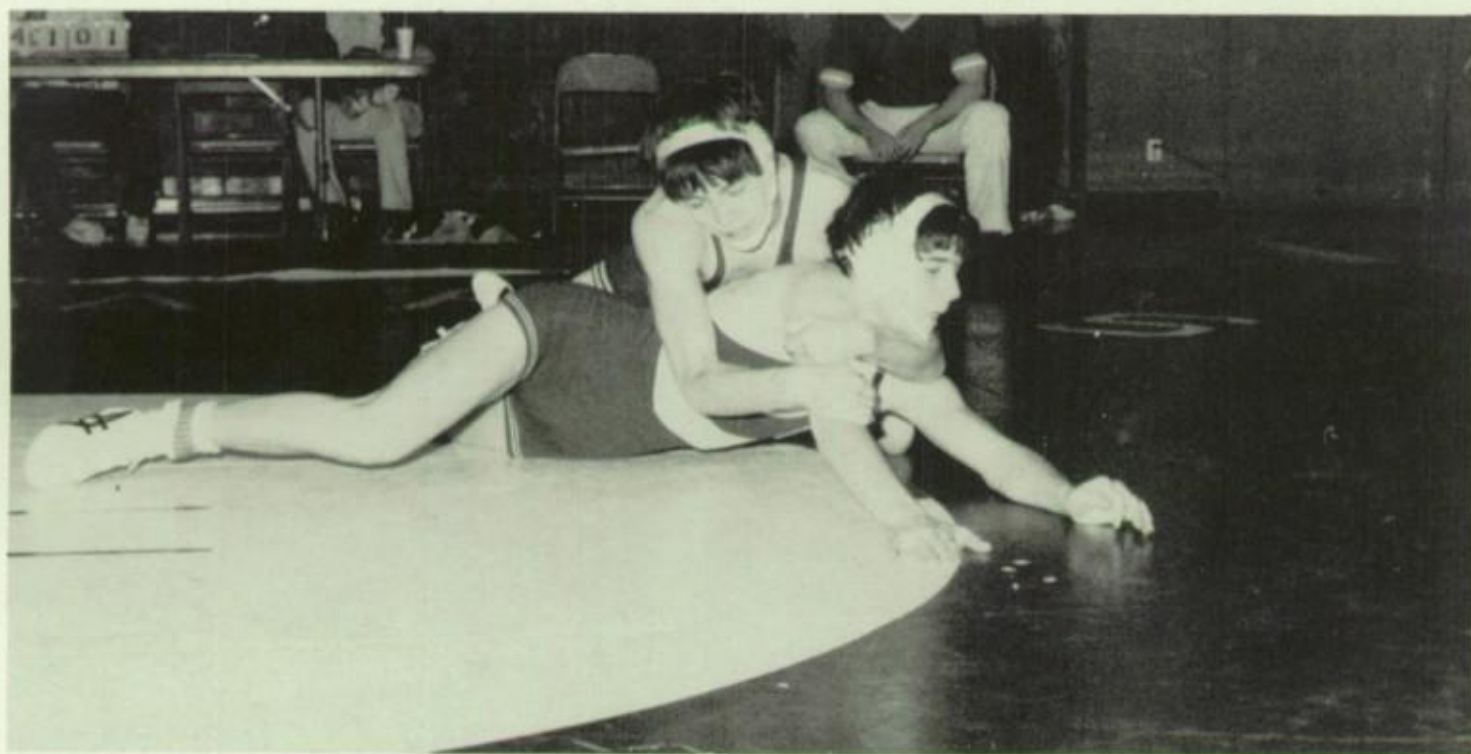

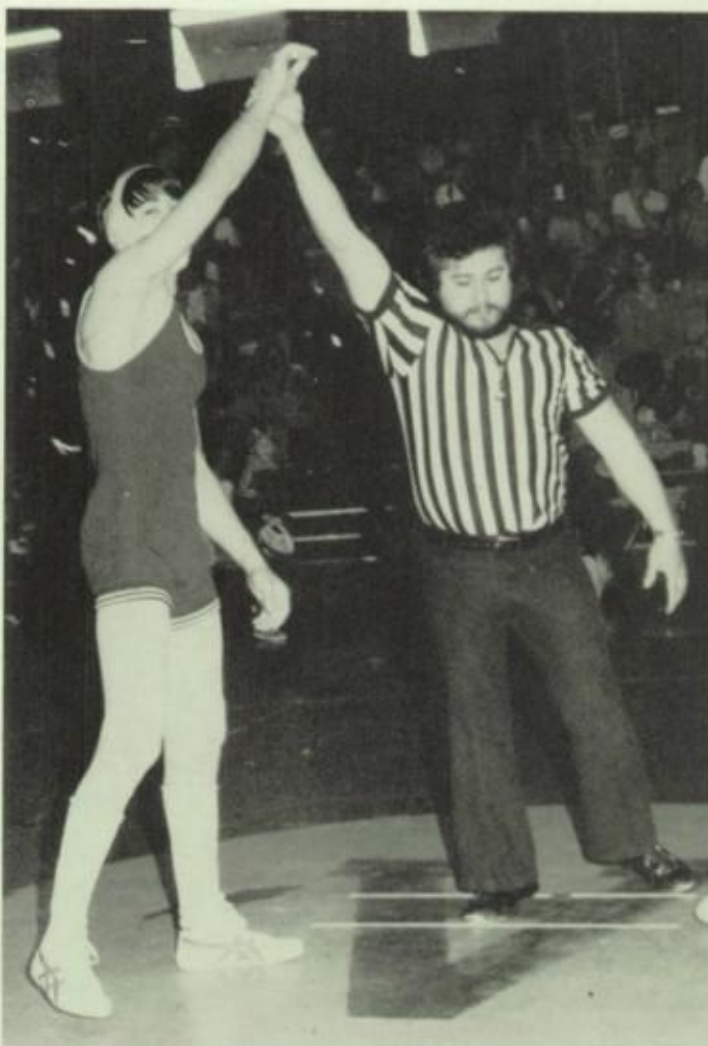

Taking a shot against Hart's awaiting goalie is Katie Rector.

Tough Competition Makes Season Rough

The tension mounts. He's in a cradle! Wait! . . . a reverse! "Pin!" exclaims the official, and six points go to . . . St. John Bosco? The wrestling team slipped this season to lose their league crown of past years, but did send Mark Garcia, Eric Zumpstein, Mickey Arreola, and Dave Warren to CIF pre-lims, while Rick Rosales went all the way to finals. Under coach Victor Kalustian, the Indians fell, under heavy competition, to a 1-2 record. Although the team was largely young and inexperienced, they hold great potential for the future, and are hoping to bring the crown back home where it belongs. (Team picture page 25.)

J.V. Wrestling

Led by Alemany Alumnus Coach Matt Reibsamen, the J.V. wrestling team kept up to par with the traditional Alemany wrestling teams of the past. With wrestlers such as Gerard Ayalla and Gonzalo Garcia the team kept its spirit and enthusiasm going strong throughout the season. "With the experience they have acquired Alemany can look forward to a great varsity team next year," assures Coach Reibsamen.

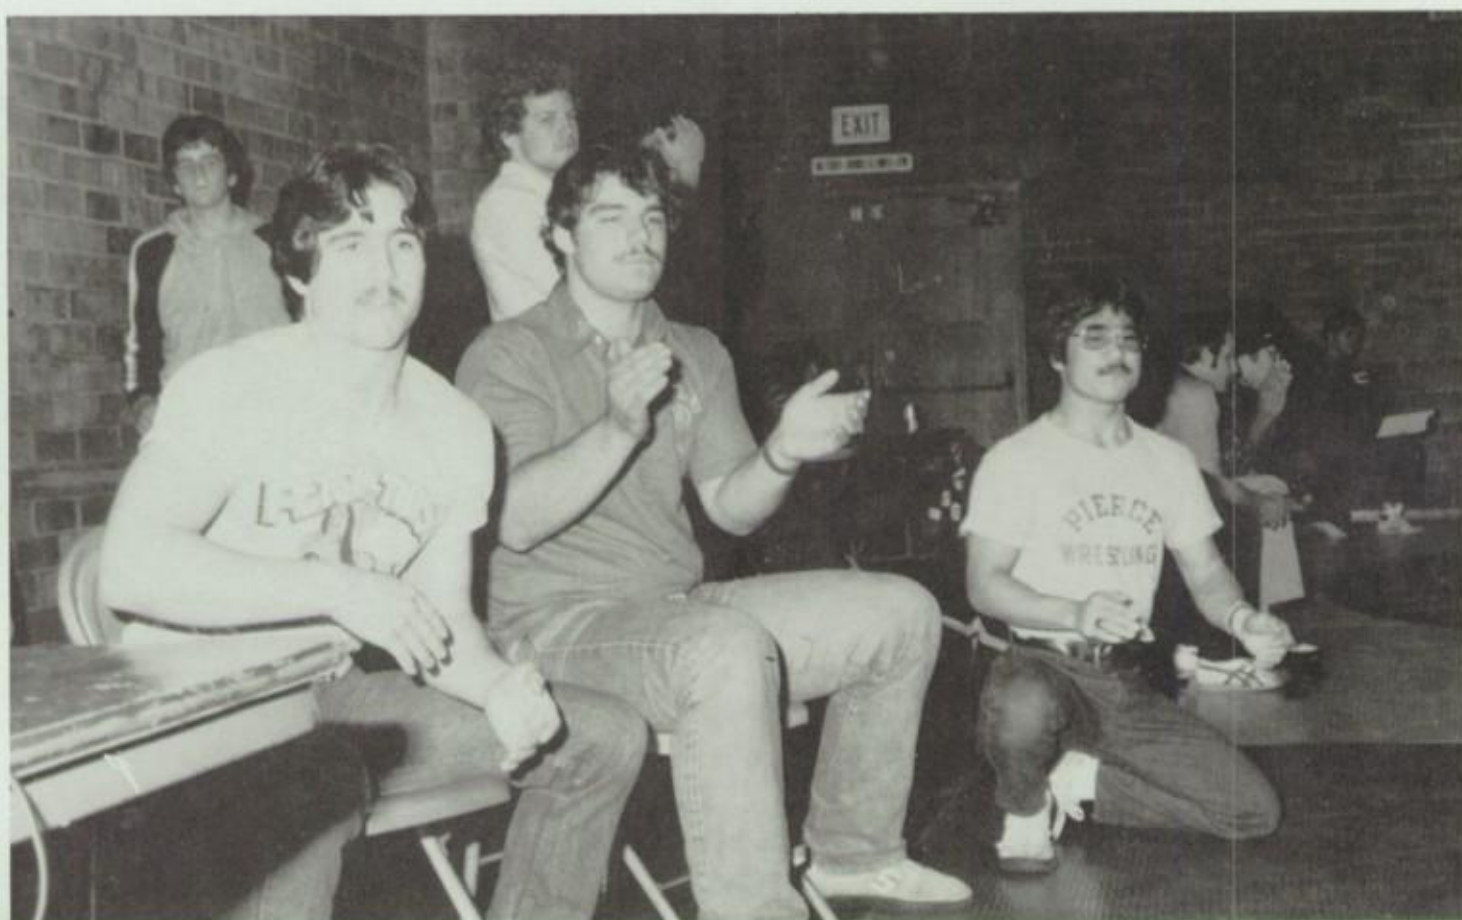

After a full day of grappling, head wrestling coach Vic Kalustian announces the winners.

Batter Up . . .

Homerun Heroins Strike Again

Strike three . . . you're out! This familiar cry was heard often as our star pitchers Colette Buike and Jody Schwartz took the mound. Having won 74 straight league games, the team suffered a break in the action with a loss to Louisville. However, with outstanding players such as Lori Shelly, Gayne Pinto and Sarah Boswell the team snapped back for a winning season.

Teammates cheer up Nancy Garcia after a strikeout.

"Now Charli, when you're up to bat . . .," explains Coach Rooney.

Spice Of Life

Ever wonder if variety really is the spice of life? Well, the Girls' JV softball team no longer has to wonder because variety really "spiced" up their lives and led them on to outstanding victories.

The variety came in the form of players—an excellent combination of Juniors, Sophomores and Freshmen who really gave it all they had which proved to be an important factor in their success. The success came in the form of an undefeated season and first place in the San Fernando league. Team picture on p. 257

The Alemany Express

Sometimes known as the, "Alemany Express," this team rolled over its opponents in its drive for a top position. With practices and workouts beginning long before the season, the team was up and well prepared for its difficult task ahead. Coach Cantu worried that he would have a difficult season, with few returning starters, but through hard work and determination, the team moved forward in the tough Del Rey league, to make Alemany proud. As one player stated, "We may be in a tough league, but we're a tough team." Team picture on page 256.

J.V. Baseball

The J.V. Baseball team, under the leadership of Coach Kalustian, learned the techniques and skills of good baseball. According to Coach Kalustian, the team was the most talented he has ever coached. The J.V. team contained tremendous potential for future Varsity teams. Team picture on page 257.

How To:

Assemble A Girls' Swim Team In Ten Easy Steps

1. First find thirty girls.
 2. Buy them matching swim suits.
 3. Plan a garage sale for extra money.
 4. Practice.
 5. Sing a swimming song such as:
"Swimming, swimming in the swimming hole when days are hot when days are cold in the swimming hole. Breaststroke, side stroke, fancy diving too, now don't you wish you never had anything else to do. But, swimming, swimming..."
 6. Wear swim fins to school and goggles on meet days.
 7. Make them have lots of fun and spirit.
 8. Tell them a shark is after them.
 9. Plan a banquet and give out awards.
 10. Start over again next year.
- All joking aside, the swim team, which started practicing in February, built up endurance and speed to form a powerful group. Though winning only one league meet, the team placed high in finals and most importantly in spirit. (Team picture page 258)

J.V. Girls

Pull It Together!

With the return of Coach Jeri Beneduce and a few members of last year's team, the new swimmers pulled together to begin the season with a splash! The team had only 2 returning swimmers including last years captain Barbara Aragon. The group of 12 girls had an undefeated season due to skill and a lack of competition. As Coach Jeri Beneduce stated, "The young team gained a lot of experience that will hopefully carry them to a more united and winning season next year."

New Team, New Season, And New Hopes For Future

What do you get when you find a coach, a bunch of guys, and a pool and put them all together? The Boys Varsity Swim Team of course! This spirited group of guys made up the first swim team in several years, so they didn't expect miracles, but they did put all they had into the season. Under Coach Eli Dekel the largely underclass team suffered many losses, finishing with a 1-5 league record. There were some excellent individual efforts, however. Danny Dilzer, Danny Granados and Tom Saletta were outstanding, providing the core of the group. With many returning students, next year's team can put into practice the basics they learned and could prove to be a force to contend with next year.

Danny Dilzer concentrates on the win that lies a long 100 meters away.

"Who says the swim team doesn't make a big splash?" exclaim team members, as they prove otherwise.

Boys J.V. Swimming

Trying Harder

The boys J.V. swim team showed its spirit throughout the entire season. Though their 1 and 3 record didn't show it, "the boys have super ability, they just needed a little more experience," said Coach Elly. Tim Gilboy, a team member said, "I think we're going to win big next year." "I'm looking forward to a great season," said Steve Henry.

For a first year team the boys did well, and they should prove to be a successful team with the talent they have. Team picture on p. 258

Chris Carman finds himself between giants.

Maiden Tracksters

Have Just Begun

After many successful years of Varsity Girl's Track, the team made a definite turn for the worse. Consisting of only 10 girls, four being Seniors, it was hard to expect much in league meets. According to Head coach Mr. Jim Kentris, "With only 10 girls on the team, it was difficult to expect much out of them as a group, but individually they did quite well. I'm going to try to recruit more girls which will hopefully bring us the success that was so characteristic of Alemany Girls in the past." As Coach Kentris said, individually the girls did excellent, with many of them looking forward to league finals, especially Down Omahen and Lizzy Crimes, team captain and 2 yr. champion at Glendale relays.

Boys' Track: Lack Of Experience

Under first year coach Mr. Kentris the Boys Varsity Track team fell under the weight of a new league and dwindling spirits. With veterans and rookies alike, the tracksters put up a strong showing at every meet but many times were short by a few points. Although they earned a 1-3 record the team grew in athletic maturity. Brian Winsick broke the 13' barrier and Tim Panec proved his experience and capability again in the distance events. Even with these two outstanding athletes it just wasn't enough to put the Alemany team on top. The Indians just lacked the numerous experienced runners needed to have a successful season. JV Track

Strides It Out

Under the direction of a new coaching staff, this year's Frosh-Soph track team floundered in a sea of despair. With the majority of the athletes being young and inexperienced, they entered a new tougher league. They really didn't have a bad season, the other teams just had better ones. Although the team didn't win a meet, a few runners such as Bert Jones and Mike Augustus showed great promise for next year. We can look forward to hearing from them in future years. Alemany Golf Team

Tim "Hogie" Hogarth shows sheer power in his swing.

Strongest In School History

The golf team had its best year in school history. This strong group of players placed second in the Del Rey league and went on to the CIF playoffs where they finished in the top 10. K. Patrick Boyd and Tim Hogarth placed among the top four in league individually. Todd Zinni and Jeff Belanger were a great contributing factor to the teams success. Tim Orr played an important role, providing a great deal of leadership. And although George Miller and John Franz were late comers to the team, due to soccer, they played an intergral role in several victories.

Coaches Ray Boyd and Vince Zinni were greatly appreciated by the team for providing such a great program and making the season so much fun. Coach Vinnie said, "I can't wait for next year!" Team Picture Pg. 261

Tying Up

Benny Emeterio and Eric Negrete body surf on ice.

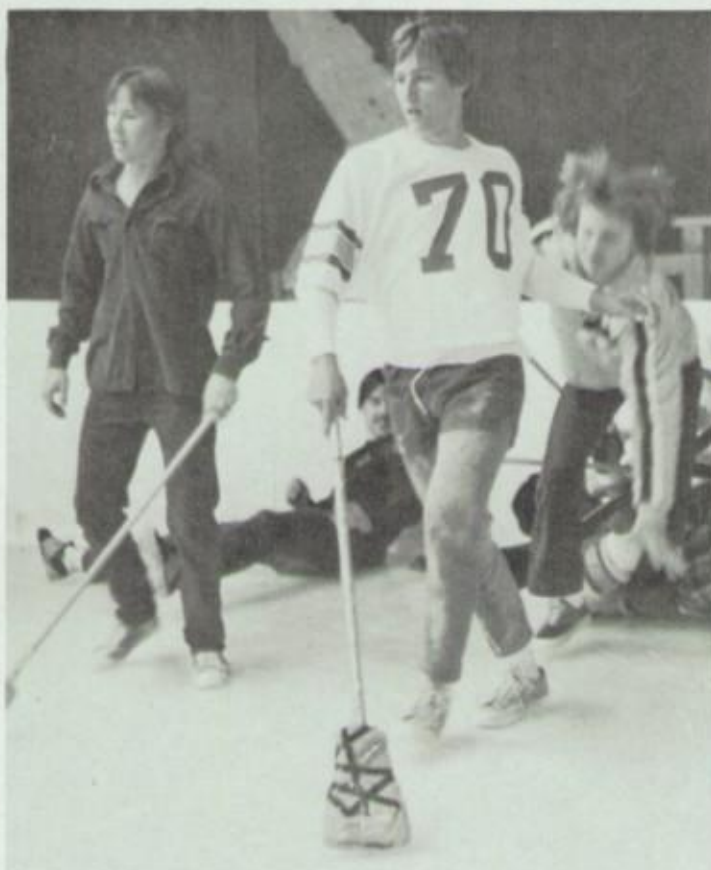

Looking back on the year we'll remember those midnight broom ball games and pop quizzes on Monday morning; we'll remember the Friday night soc hops and weekday lunch lines. Hopefully we can look back and reminisce about the friends we made and the good times we had. Though it may have been rough getting through we should be satisfied realizing that we did make it and we're the better for it!

"Dancing's my thing!" says Michelle Modugno.

Mr. Carr mesmerizes Lane McCarthy with an ancient voodoo dance.

One Fine Day

On one particular crisp autumn morn, the high clear tenor of a young lad's song could be heard carrying through the fragrant boughs of the forest pines.

"Morning has come,
Hear the tillerman hum,
Heigh ho Heigh yum ...
As loud as a drum.
He furrows and tills
And he never stands still
All the day long
And his tillerman's song
Heigh yums and heigh ho's
Forever it goes
As loud as a drum
Heigh ho Heigh yum ..."

Solomon was the young lad's name. Solomon was in this part of the world because he'd left thought lying about somewhere in the area and he was out to find it. The difficult part of course is that in order to find a thought, one must not really look for it. Solomon, however, was content with not really looking because the country was quite beautiful and he took extreme joy in just being. "Being is where it is at,"

Solomon would often remark to whomever was listening, which more often than not was usually a rock or two. But then Solomon liked rocks. "The inanimate can make really great friends as long as you remember you don't need them," Solomon once told a friend whilst playfully throwing him in a lake. On this particular morning Solomon met up with a griffin at the edge of the forest, right where it opened up to a huge meadow surrounding a clear green lake with several inlets scattered about within.

"You don't look much like a griffin," Solomon said to the griffin, not knowing what a griffin should look like, as griffins didn't actually exist. "Well you don't look much like God," retorted the griffin, not actually knowing what God looked like as he'd never seen God because he didn't exist in the first place. "Look," said Solomon, "If you happened to exist, you'd feel what God knows like."

"Say!" said the griffin, clearly impressed. "That's very good! Here, read this!" And the griffin pulled out a parchment from wherever griffins hide parchment whilst carrying it about and handed it to Solomon. It read:

Story by John Wlmsatt. Poem and parchment by George Miller. Pictures by Dave Panec and National Geographic.

Irrelevance—Get yours from John Wlmsatt. He's full of it. Buy a yearbook ad today. Look at all the fun you can have with it.

The day yawned bright and beautiful.
There was nodding a cloud on the sly. I flung off my shoeey wrap and tossed my head to loose my cap and went a bowed from house to house to find my friends.
Then sudden came the muddled ground.
All puddlesome, it damped my feet. It weathered hard about my face and frost my figures to the bone.

So slippery step I to the porch and fell about the door. Quiply came the answer,
"Who dares? Why clubs pouncing aloud
the door." "Tis I," said I a soggy waiffer! Terri came and let me in. "I am but a soggy and haveless waiffer," said
I, "would you grieve me some food?"
"We haven't much," said Terri "but there some food my mother's just bean pudding out." In we went to eat and Terri queried, "Tell me true-is it a blight?" So ruefully I made reply-"I've found the chewing glum," and blew a big buggle saying, "How grating dis taste!"

"Well it's all very fine and good and quite a gripping tale," said Solomon as he stripped off his clothes, for the day had begun to grow rather warm. "But is it relevant?"

"Does it matter?" answered the griffin, who didn't know better than to answer a question with a question.

"Only in the fact that it's irrelevant," answered Solomon, at the same time both finding the thought he'd lost and realizing its irrelevance. And upon this, he lay down in the meadow next to the griffin for a nice long bask in the sun.

Alarm!

Boyd & Associates combines the best available people and equipment for the ultimate in central station fire, burglary and holdup alarm systems.

Electronic intrusion alarms provide continuous surveillance at reasonable cost. Criminals usually avoid breaking and entering properties with modern alarm systems.

If they do, dispatchers at our 24-hour central station send help instantly... seven days a week.

At the same time, Boyd & Associates guards protect against vandalism, fire, mechanical breakdowns, natural disasters and otherwise provide the extra dimension of security that comes with human judgment.

Learn why more and more companies are trusting their security to Boyd & Associates.

"Gerard, With You . . ."

I learned the joy of giving
And the meaning of believing,
I learned the feeling of caring
And the secret for forgiving.

With you I saw a life
Filled with tenderness,
A life I've never seen
Except with you I must confess.

I thank you oh so dearly
For the way you've touched my life,
For being ever true
And for keeping our love alive!

Looking Back

Following another football victory, Fr. Blaire pauses during the Alma Mater to smell the sweet scent of success.

As Nancy Huffine goes over how to graph a hyperbola, Kris Wurzbach ponders its' insignificance in her life.

Through The Arch

As we look back over the year, success can be seen everywhere. The football team had its' most successful season ever. The soccer team won the CIF Championship. Student Council continued its' tradition of putting on thrilling events for the students, such as homecoming, Mardi Gras, and Prom. The seniors displayed their creative genius in pranks which ranged from stacking the lunch benches to leaving George Miller in the bathroom with no pants.

All of this excitement would have meant nothing though, if it weren't for the entire student body supporting the events. As a result of the support Alemany became unified in spirit, which was our Arc de Triomphe. Alemany students look back on a memorable trip to Washington D.C.

In the midst of all this excitement we did have time to get to know one another though. We found that most Alemanyites were pretty decent people. In face a special few even became our friends. Bridgette Luna decides she doesn't want to be business editor, as she tries to organize her ads.

Kris Mechtley explains the finer points of applying eye makeup to Tom Pelino.

CIF Southern Section 3A soccer MVP Pat Lynn enjoys the life of a stud athlete.

"But just because your cowlick looks nice, doesn't mean one will look good on me also," explains Letecia Llerenas.

Monica Sauter gets into her role as a punk rocker in a skit for Miss Nadea's English class.

Senior girls push and shove for the privilege of being photographed by Danny Edwards.

Details for the weekend's events are worked out by Vice President Gayne Pinto, who is taking Sister Theresa's place during Student Government Day.

Looking Forward . . .

Dave Eichten dozes into delerium during the Pledge of Allegience.

Student Council members, Shannon Doyle, Bridgette Luna, Gwen Hogan, and Wendy Whiteford, are surprised by Mrs. Eiser, after sneaking into the faculty lounge for a snack.

. . . Into The Arch

Even now, as we look back on the school year, we begin to turn forward, and as we move forward many of the arches of friendship that we have built over the years begin to crumble. Some will stand longer than others, but eventually all but a precious few will tumble down.

It makes us sad to be losing a part of our past, but it makes us happy to be moving on to new challenges where we can build new arches with increased strength, span, and durability.

Hopefully though, this book will allow us to keep a part of our past, by bringing back memories of others and by having others remember us. For: (to borrow a few lines from an obscure Renaissance poet named Shakespeare)

"So long as men can breathe, or eyes can memories awake and the arch that we have built as a school will stand the test of time.

see, So long lives this, and this gives life to thee." This immortality will keep our Denise Ackerson enjoys her lunch at "the tables" with her friends, despite that socially humiliating problem-food caught between the teeth.

Meanwhile, Juniors Ralph Solorzano and Max Godinez look on in awe at Denise's beauty.

Good-Bye

Good-bye and good luck from all your fellow schoolmates. We sincerely hope that you will be successful in the years to come, but remember all the friends you left behind and the good times we had together. Best Wishes... (check endsheets to see who we were)

Penny Prince Mike Schaffel is not impressed by Paige Hagele's ribbings about his cap.

On his way to lunch Brian Demetz concentrates on memorizing his songs for Sunday mass at St. Euphrasia's church.
